MODIFICATION OF THE DECREE

Of Judge Wright of United States Court,

AGAINST AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR

By District Court of Appeals at Washington.

Today's Decision Does Not Affect the Sentences Passed by Justice Wright on Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, but It May Be Used by Them in Making an Appeal from Their Sentences.

Washington, March 11.—The district court of appeals today handed down an opinion in the appeal of the officers of the American Federation of Labor in the famous Bucks Stove & Range case modifying Justice Gould's injunction order, which forbade the federation to assail the St. Louis stove concern in print.

By Justice Gould's decision, the federation of labor was enjoined from publishing the name of the stove company in the "We Don't Patronize" list in the Federationist, the official monthly journal of the organization.

Today's decision does not affect the sentences passed by Justice Wright upon Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, on account of their alleged violation of the injunction and contempt of court, although ultimately it may result in a modification of the sentence.

It is possible that since the court of appeals has found Judge Gould's injunction too harsh, the defendant labor leaders will base their appeal from their jail sentences upon today's decision.

One Justice Dissents.

Chief Justice Shepherd, who dissented from the opinion of the court—which does not invalidate the injunction, but which does modify its terms—upheld the freedom of the press in strong terms.

The modified decree enjoins the characterizing of the Bucks Stove & Range company as "unfair" only when such publication is in furtherance of a conspiracy, or boycott against the firm.

On this point, Justice Robb, who read the decision in court says:

"We think the decree in this case goes too far when it enjoins the publication or distribution through the mails or otherwise, of the Federationist or other periodicals or newspapers containing any reference to complainant or its business or product, as in the 'We Don't Patronize' or 'unfair list' of the defendants.

"The printing of this list in the Federationist was what the court sought to prevent and what in our opinion the court had power to prevent, but the decree should stop there, and not attempt to regulate the publication and distribution of other matter, over which the court has no control.

CHINA IS SOON TO TAKE CENSUS

Of the Uncounted Millions Within Her Borders.

Washington, March 11.—China is about to take a census of the uncounted millions within her borders.

In accordance with the program for constitutional reform, an edict, copies of which have been received at the state department, has been issued directing the police Tao-Tais, and provincial treasurers to enumerate the individuals and families of the empire. The returns for the census of families must be completed by 1910, and for individuals by 1912

All Chinese living in foreign lands must be enumerated, according to the prescribed method.

MURDER SENTENCE TO BE COMMUTED

That John Harper May Be Missionary Among Convicts.

Atlanta, Ga., March 11.—John Harper, sentenced to the gallows for the murder of Sheriff Keith. Murray county, is to have his sentence commuted in order that he may act as a missionary among the other convicts. Since his conviction Harper has become converted and the Kings Daughters have taken his case up with the pardon commission, securing the promise of a commutation to life imprisonment in order that Harper may carry out his desire to be a missionary to his fellow convicts.

COLUMBUS SUFFERS EPIDEMIC OF MUMPS

Columbus, O., March 11.—An epidemic of mumps, said to have been spread by the conductors of the local street car company, has obtained a grip on this city which it seems cannot be broken. Private physicians and officials of the health department estimate there are a thousand cases in the city.

FEWER CLOTHES; MORE MODEST

Strip of Bark or Piece of Blanket, the Thing.

New York, March 11.—"Fewer clothes would make the American woman more modest," declares Arthur George Pomeroy Collon, Englishman, for years a resident in Africa.

"Clad only in a strip of bark or a piece of a woolen blanket they are as unconscious as children," he declares, "but the instant they are given a shirtwaist or a skirt, they become shy and coquettish.

"I hardly like to think on what would happen if a directoire gown were let loose in their midst."

LAD AND HATCHET ARE UNDER WATCH

And Baltimore Is Again in Communication with World.

Baltimore, Md., March 11.—With little Johnny Stainer and his hatchet safely under watch today, Baltimore is again in telegraphic communication with the outside world, after having been cut off for two hours through the medium of Johnny, his hatchet and a cable of telegraph wires stretched along the ground.

Since the storm of March 4, the telegraph companies have temporarily laid wires along the ground, over fences and attached to broken poles. Johnny came across one of the cables and whacked it in two.

Wreck Abandoned.

Boston, Mass., March 11.—A wireless despatch from the revenue cutter, Gresham, says she has taken Captain Jewell, pilot and three men off the wreck of the Horatio Hall, which has been abandoned. The H. F. Dimock rests easily on a sandbar and will probably be saved.

COUNTRY OWES $150,000,000

The Money Must Be Raised in Some Way.

FINANCIAL CHASM MUST BE BRIDGED

May Be Necessary To Use Extreme Measures.

Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, Advocates a Stamp Tax—Doesn't Fancy Tax on Coffee—Taxing the Breakfast Table Has Proven a Bad Proposition in the Past and May Again.

Washington, March 11.—"The government owes $150,000,000 and has got to raise money in some way. We shall probably have to swallow some of our sentiment, and do something that are not agreeable, but like an individual who owes a lot of money and must pay it, we may have to resort to extreme measures to bridge the financial chasm."

Senator Elkins of West Virginia, one of the original stand-patters, had a few words to say about the coming tariff legislation today, after a talk with President Taft.

"I am a Republican and a protectionist," Elkins continued, "and am in favor of a stamp tax, and to a limited extent where it can be done without injuring our industries I am in favor of certain reductions in the schedules. The bill that we will pass must protect, and at the same time must raise more revenue and to frame such a bill is not an easy task."

The senator was asked whether he favored a tax on coffee, but he gracefully sidestepped the issue.

"Taxing the breakfast table has made trouble before this," Elkins said, "and might again, so I don't feel competent to talk on the subject now."

ELKINS LAW IS A DEAD LETTER

That Is the View of Many Legal Lights,

SINCE THE DECISION OF JUDGE ANDERSON

In the $29,240,000 Standard Oil Octopus Case.

The Chief Attorney of the Oil Trust, John S. Miller, Makes the Claim That the Decision Marks the End of a Trust-Busting Campaign, Which Is Started for Political Purposes Only.

Chicago, March 11.—Discussing the collapse of the government's Standard Oil case, Attorney John S. Miller, chief counsel for the trust, said today:

"This is the logical end of the flamboyant 'trust-busting' campaign for political purposes that closed with the recent election. The language of the law evidently was made ambiguous by congress, and I don't think it was intended to be enforced."

The Elkins law is a dead letter, at least so far as punishing shippers for rebating is concerned.

This is the opinion of lawyers today, after digesting the opinion rendered by Judge A. B. Anderson in the famous Standard Oil case yesterday. An authority discussing the case today said:

"Hereafter shippers, prosecuted for rebating must be proved to have had 'wilful and conscious intent' to violate the law. This will be necessary because, it seems to me, the circuit court of appeals' decision reverses the principle that 'ignorance' of the law is no excuse for violating it.'

"It has been the practice of many railroads since 1877 to issue tariffs, giving rates according to classes. Then, in order to change rates as to commodities, classifications were issued both by the roads and by state railroad commissions.

Old Enough To Vote.

"In the case of one railroad the same tariff has been on file since 1877 and has been subjected to thirty-six changes by classification.

"Some of these changes were made by the road and some by the railway and warehouse commission. The changes have been made without warning to shippers, and are so intricate that even freight experts have difficulty in understanding them.

"To make it a condition precedent to all prosecution of shippers that the government establish 'knowledge beyond a reasonable doubt' is to make it impossible to secure a conviction. Upon that point the United States circuit court of appeals was explicit.

"This leaves only the doubtful consolation that perhaps railroads may be prosecuted for not fixing their rates. This undoubtedly would be successfully met by carriers with the contention that the rate is fixed by the tariffs and classifications and that the railroads are not to be prosecuted because of the inability of shippers to understand them.

"It is very doubtful if any successful prosecution of common carriers can be made under the law, as applied by Judge Anderson, according to the rule laid down by the appellate court. It would be difficult to establish the guilt of any one 'beyond a reasonable doubt.'"

ZEPPELIN WILL CROSS ATLANTIC

That's the Statement of the Berne Tagblatt.

Geneva, March 11.—Count Zeppelin will sail his new airship across the Atlantic, according to a statement printed today in the Berne Tagblatt. This paper says that Joseph Brucker, formerly editor of the Staats Zeitung, Chicago, has signed a contract guaranteeing Zeppelin a large sum, in addition to his expenses, for the trip, the count to follow the course of Columbus when America was discovered. The trip, according to the Tagblatt, will begin at Cadiz, Spain, July 25 next and is expected to take a week. Zeppelin will be accompanied by a number of prominent German aeronauts.

Friendly Move Expected.

Paris, March 11.—In governmental circles today Servia's latest note to the powers is regarded as satisfactory and a friendly move from Austria is expected at once.

WRITES SUSPECT'S NAME IN BLOOD

Fearing He May Return and Kill Her.

Memphis, Tenn., March 11.—Fearing that she, too, might be the victim of the man who had assassinated her husband, and there would thus be no one left to tell of whom she suspected of the crime, Mrs. Lou Channel dipped her fingers in the blood of her husband and wrote the name of the suspect on the floor. The name was that of Ernest Hill.

Mrs. Channel then fled to the house of a neighbor for protection and assistance.

Hill has been arrested but denies the crime. It is alleged, however, that Hill and Channel had recently quarreled over a rake. Channel was sitting in one of the rooms of his house when the fatal bullet was fired through the window. It was then that Mrs. Channel, fearing that she, too, would fall a victim of the slayer's bullet, left the clew as to whom she suspected of the crime.

ENRAGED WIFE ASSAULTS MISS

Believed by Her To Be Alienating Husband's Affections.

Napoleon, O., March 11.—Fearing that Frances Hoffman, a striking brunette of eighteen, was winning her husband's affections, Mrs. William Thompson, of Florida, eight miles from here, met the young woman on the streets of the village and pelted the girl with offensive missiles until the latter reached a place of safety.

A charge of assault and battery was preferred and Mrs Thompson was placed under a peace bond by the Florida mayor.

TWO NEGROES ARE DEAD AT HAMILTON

And Two White Men Are Injured in a Cave-In.

Hamilton, O., March 11.—Two negroes were killed and two white men were injured when a sanitary sewer caved in at Front and Woods streets this morning.

The dead are Alexander Howard, thirty-five, married, colored, and James Robinson, forty, single, colored, of Mount Sterling, Kentucky.

The injured are Thomas Maus, forty-five, Mexican, and John Zilliox, white, Cincinnati. They will recover.

Treasury Statement.

Washington, March 11.—Today's treasury statement: Receipts $2,112,040; disbursements $2,410,000.

TO PROTECT THE PUBLIC DOMAIN

Commissioner Dennett To War on Timber Thieves.

NOW PLANNING HIS CAMPAIGN

Million Dollar Appropriation Is Available.

The Field Force of the Land Office Will Be Increased at Once by 200 Trained Men Who Will Be Put at Work in the Northwest Under Agent Schwartz so Soon as Winter Breaks.

Washington, March 11.—With a million dollar appropriation immediately available for the prevention of fraud upon the public domain, Land Commissioner Dennett is busy organizing his forces to clean up old business in the land office, and to get at the bottom of new frauds alleged to have been committed in the northwestern states.

The field force of the land office will be increased at once by 200 trained men, who will be put at work this summer in the Northwest, where cold winters make it necessary to do most of the outdoor work in the summer months.

The organization of the force is under the direction of H. H. Schwartz, who is reputed to be one of the best land agents of the department.

Next winter the field agents will visit Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and other southwestern states, where the climate will permit them to work out of doors.

Train Is Wrecked.

Jackson, Miss., March 11.—It is reported that train wreckers caused the wreck of a passenger train north of Monroe, Louisiana, on the Louisiana & Gulf road early today and that several people were killed and others severely hurt.

HE DISPOSES OF RAILWAY STOCK

Dickinson Lets Go of Choice Securities,

PREPARATORY TO TAKING NEW JOB

Doesn't Enter Cabinet To Represent Railroads.

Any Such Charge Is Ridiculous—He Is Selected by the President for the Treasury Portfolio Not Because He Is a Democrat, but Merely as a Tribute to the Fair South Land.

Chicago, March 11. — Secretary of War Jacob M. Dickinson left here this morning for Washington. He announced that he had finally wound up his business with the Illinois Central railroad and was ready to take up his new duties. "I have always been a Democrat," he said, "and I always expect to be. I have never voted for a Republican in my life, and I regard my appointment to the cabinet as a tribute to the south rather than to myself personally.

"Neither can it truthfully be said that I am going to Washington to represent the Illinois Central railroad or railroads in general. I wish to say at this time that I have disposed of my holdings of stock in the Illinois Central and have resigned my position as attorney for the same road. The charges that I am taking the cabinet place in order that I can preserve the interests of the Illinois Central either on the lake front of Chicago or elsewhere are so ridiculous that I do not care to talk of them."

REORGANIZATION OF OHIO PENITENTIARY

Changes About First Thing on Program of Governor.

Columbus, O., March 11.—Reorganization of the Ohio penitentiary will be about the first thing to receive consideration from Governor Harmon following the relief that will come to him with the adjournment of the legislature Friday.

Governor Harmon will be able to take over control of the penitentiary on April 1, and it is not believed he will lose much time in effecting a complete reorganization of the institution.

The board of managers now stands three Republicans and two Democrats, but on March 31 the term of one of the Republicans, M. J. Sloan, of Warren county, will expire and Governor Harmon will select a Democrat to take his place on the following day, so that the board will *then be composed of three Demo*crats and two Republicans. It is expected that a meeting of the board will at once be held for the selection of a new warden and other officials and guards of the prison.

GARTER SNAKE FOR THERMOSTAT

That's What a Kentuckian Uses in Incubator.

Martinsburg, Ky., March 11.—That nature has provided a thermostat, at least for use in incubators, that does away with the necessity of all the present day complicated contrivances for automatically regulating temperature, is the belief of Labe Karnes, a miller near here. Karnes has put a garter snake in his incubator. When the temperature becomes too warm the snake crawls to the farthest corner of the incubator where its coils and weight cause the heat cut off to lift, thus allowing the apartment to cool. When the apartment gets too cool, the snake crawls back toward the lamp and the heat cut off is closed.

INDEBTEDNESS OF ELBERT ASSUMED

Cardinal Gibbons* Will Pay the $130,000 Lost by Priest.

Baltimore Md., March 11.—Cardinal Gibbons announced today his assumption of the $130,000 indebtedness of Rev. Casper P. Elbert, former priest of St. Catherine's, Catholic church, in this city. Elbert was removed from the pastorate a week ago though no reason was given at the time.

Elbert's indebtedness grew out of such visionary financial schemes that his friends are inclined to think that he is mentally unbalanced.

He is now in Mount Hope retreat.

A coward manages to dodge a lot of things that are headed his way.

WOULD BAR LIQUORS FROM WHITE HOUSE

Lima, O., March 11.—The Woman's Christian Temperance union, in session here, Wednesday passed resolutions asking Mrs. Taft to observe the principles of their union, and to bar intoxicating liquors from the White House. A copy of the resolutions has been forwarded to Mrs. Taft.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN CANAL

Another Mystery Confronts the Police of Dayton.

Dayton, O., March 11.—The Dayton police faced another mystery this afternoon when the body of a middle-aged woman, well-dressed, was found in the Miami and Erie canal at the foot of Ludlow street about 800 feet from the Apple street bridge and just in the rear of the fair grounds.

A colored boy was rowing in the canal in a small boat. Low water in the canal made it possible for him to see the body. The police were notified and the body dragged to shore. The body was badly decomposed and the police believe it had been in the water for at least a month. Whether or not murder or suicide was committed is not known.

MOTHER KILLS SON AND THEN HERSELF

While on a Visit with a Relative in* Indiana.

Rushville, Ind., March 11.—Mrs. Lou Sommers Crist, of Chicago, while a guest at the home of her aunt, Mrs. B. W. Riley of this place, shot and killed her fourteen-year-old son and then killed herself. The tragedy was committed during the night and was not discovered until late this morning. She had fired three shots into her son's head and one into her own head.

Bark in Bad Way.

New London, Conn., March 11.—The life-saving station at this point reported today that the British bark "Ladysmith," which went ashore outside of Fishers' island in the fog yesterday, is pounding heavily, and if the rough see continues she will in all probability go to pieces.

IS OPPOSED TO SPOILS SYSTEM

Taft Stands with Roosevelt in Census Matter.

ROOSEVELT KILLED THE FIRST BILL

And Taft Will Veto Any One on Same Lines.

Persons Who Want To Help Take the Census Will Have To Stand Special Test Examinations, Conducted by the Civil Service Commission—Modification of the Old Bill Will Pass.

Washington, March 11.—The desire of congress to have appointments to the census bureau based on the "spoils" system, will not be realized. Roosevelt killed a bill containing that provision, and Taft has let it be known that he will veto the bill if it is passed again.

To meet his objections, the house leaders have modified the bill. Persons who want to help take the next census, will have to stand special test examinations, conducted by the civil service commission. In cases of emergency the census director is to be permitted to appoint eligibles at hand, instead of selecting appointees according to their rating.

An effort will be made in the house to avoid the appointment of a census committee in the special session. It is proposed to pass the old bill, as modified, under a special rule

Schooner in Trouble.

New York, March 11.—A revenue cutter left today for the relief of an unknown schooner, which is in trouble about ten miles southeast of Beach Haven. News of the schooner's condition was received by the United Wireless Telegraph company from the steamship Jamestown, of the Old Dominion line.

SEVEN PEOPLE UNDER ARREST

In Connection with the Newark Assassination.

ALL ARE MEMBERS OF CONGREGATION

Of Which the Dead Priest Was the Pastor.

It Is Argued by the Police That, While the Seven in Question May Not Have Been Guilty of the Crime, They Must Have Had Some Knowledge of the Identity of the Three Assassins.

Newark, N. J., March 11.—Although the local detectives have scoured the Polish districts here, they are today without a direct clue to the assassins who shot to death Rev. Erasmus Ansione at the rectory of St. Stanislaus' church yesterday.

Seven men are under arrest on suspicion of being implicated in the crime. All of them are members of St. Stanislaus' congregation and took prominent parts in the recent factional fight of the congregation. All deny any knowledge of the priest's murderers.

On the other hand, the detectives allege that the prisoners have a pretty good idea who the slayers were. The murderers must have been well acquainted with the neighborhood of the rectory. There is a gate leading from Livingstone street in the rear of the residence rectory. This was the entrance which the assassins used and because of this fact the police are sure that the murder was committed by persons who knew the location.

The suspicion that the slayers came from Paterson, which was Father Ansione's parish before he came to Newark three months ago, is not believed to be well founded. It is pointed out by the Paterson detectives that the members of St. Stephen's church there, which parish was presided over by Father Ansione, were fully satisfied when he was transferred to Newark as pastor of St. Stanislaus.'

Despite this assertion, however, the Newark police have started a search for a former female member at the Paterson rectory. This woman, it is alleged, had a personal encounter with the priest during the time of the Paterson church troubles.'

The condition of Antonina Tonista, the housekeeper who was shot while trying to save Father Ansione, was reported today as improving. The doctors believe she will recover if no complications set in.

CONFINEMENT OF TEN YEARS ENDED

As Result of Wonderful Speech on Abraham Lincoln.

New York, March 11.—Former Judge John Ulrich, of Plainfield, New Jersey, is a free man today after ten years' confinement in the Morris Plains insane asylum, and all because of a wonderful speech he delivered on Lincoln's birthday anniversary to a group of asylum doctors and guests.

Ulrich, who was formerly a prominent lawyer, Republican worker and state legislator, was told several days before the anniversary that he would be called on for a speech. Realizing the opportunity to convince the doctors of his sanity, Ulrich spent hours in the preparation of his speech and thrilled his hearers with his eulogy of the great emancipator. All were convinced that the man's reason had returned and steps were taken at once to secure his release.

After a week's rest and recuperation it is probable that Ulrich will return to the practice of law, overwork in which brought on his insanity.

THEY MUST BE SOLD STRICTLY ON MERIT

Government Insists on Pure Maple Sugar and Syrup.

Chardon, O., March 11.—William Ford, representing the chemical department of the bureau of agriculture, Washington, is visiting maple sugar camps in this and other Ohio counties to secure information from which to establish a standard of quality. He says that it is the intention of the department that maple sugar and syrup shall be sold strictly on its merits; old or adulterated maple products of any kind to be sold only as such. As a result of the investigations there will undoubtedly be come changes in the marketing and labeling of the maple product.

GET JUST WHAT THEY EXPECTED

Miners' Proposition Turned Down by Operators.

CONTINUE CONFERENCE TODAY

Higher Wages Mean Increase In Cost of Coal, Is Contention of Anthracite Mine Owners, Which They Say Is Not Advisable at Present—Want Wage Agreement Renewed For Period of Three Years — Lewis Exasperated.

Philadelphia, March 12.—At the conference held in the Reading Terminal building between the anthracite operators and the committee of the hard coal miners, the operators flatly refused to grant the men any of the demands laid before them and at the same time proposed to renew the present working agreement, which will expire March 31, for a period of three years.

This decision was not in the nature of a surprise to the mine workers, as they had long ago learned that the operators were against making any concessions. Thomas Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, declined to comment on the developments of the day beyond stating that he and his committeemen will meet to discuss the situation. Another conference is in progress this afternoon.

The contention of the operators is that an acceptance of the terms proposed by the miners will necessitate an advance in the price of coal, which is at the present time impracticable.

Agreement Made In 1903.

The present agreement, made in New York three years ago, when John Mitchell led the miners in the negotiations, is identical with the award of the strike commission made in 1903, after the strike of 1902. Three years ago the miners made numerous demands, but all were rejected, and they accepted the renewal of the strike commisson award, which is the same proposition again made by the operators.

So far as could be learned from the miners, a majority of the workers are opposed to a strike, because they feel they are not strongly enough intrenched to carry on a campaign of the magnitude of that of 1900 and 1902.

The demands of the miners embrace, the negotiation of an agreement between operators and miners by the terms of which all disputes shall be adjusted; the recognition of the United Mine Workers of America by the operators; the adoption of the eight-hour day without reduction in wages; that all coal shall be mined and paid for by the ton of 2,000 pounds; that all employes paid $1.50 or less a day be given a 10 per cent and all employes paid more than $1.50 and less than $2 a day be given a 5 per cent advance, and that all contracts be made for the period of one year.

STATEMENT ONE-SIDED

President Lewis Does Not Like Report From Conference.

Philadelphia, March 12.—President Lewis was much exasperated when shown the statement that had been given out. He said the arrangements with the operators was that the secretary of each subcommittee was to act as a press committee and prepare a statement for the public. Secretary George W. Hartlein represented the miners on this committee and George F. Parker of New York acted for the operators.

Mr. Lewis left the meeting before the statement was prepared. When he was shown a copy he expressed great surprise that Hartlein should agree to such a "one-sided statement," and declared that he wanted an explanation from Hartlein as to whether the statement given out is the one agreed to.

FOURTEEN AUTOS TIED

Will Decide Endurance Run by Lot Tonight.

Boston, March 12.—Fourteen of the 20 automobiles which left New York on the endurance run to Boston for the Chester I. Campbell trophy finished on schedule time, 12 hours later, with perfect scores. The tie will not be run off, but the holders of the trophy for the coming year will be decided by lot tonight.

One serious accident marred the run. Aaron W. Wallace was killed at Fairfield, Conn., by attempting to jump from his carriage, his horse becoming frightened at the automobiles and running away.

Sanitarium Inmate Cremated.

Charlotte, N. C., March 12.—In a fire which destroyed Biggs sanitarium at Greensboro, Frank Greene was burned to death and a number of other inmates more or less seriously injured.

Woman Killed by Auto.

New York, March 12.—Mrs. Leo Baumann, wife of a wealthy New York furniture dealer, was struck and killed by an automobile owned by Tully C. Estee, a flour merchant.

WRECKERS DITCH TRAIN

Engine and Cars Demolished, but No Lives Lost.

Peoria, Ill., March 12.—Chicago and Burlington passenger train No. 1 was wrecked by trainwreckers at the Vicars coal mine switch, five miles out from the city. An investigation showed that the lock on the switch had been broken and the switch thrown. The train was going at the rate of 49 miles an hour and was thrown onto the siding into a cut of loaded freight cars.

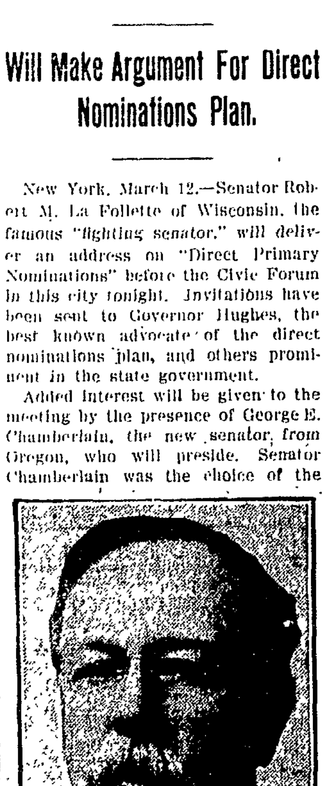
The engineer reversed his engine when he saw the danger and with his fireman jumped. Both escaped with slight bruises. More than 200 passengers were aboard, and the impact, which demolished the locomotive and several of the coal cars, resulted in several minor injuries.

LA FOLLETTE SPEAKS IN NEW YORK TONIGHT

Will Make Argument For Direct Nominations Plan.

New York, March 12.—Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin, the famous "fighting senator," will deliver an address on "Direct Primary Nominations" before the Civic Forum in this city tonight. Invitations have been sent to Governor Hughes, the best known advocate of the direct nominations plan, and others prominent in the state government.

Added interest will be given to the meeting by the presence of George E. Chamberlain, the new senator from Oregon, who will preside. Senator Chamberlain was the choice of the voters of his state at the primary polls and although he is a Democrat, he was elected by Republican legislators pledged to vote for him.



GEORGE E. CHAMBERLAIN.

Tonight's proceedings will partake of the nature of a joint debate. Senator La Follette, who has won fame in the senate as a debater, will reply to those who doubt the efficacy of the direct nominations remedy for the evils of politics.

CONTEST ENDS TONIGHT

Either Franz or Smith Will Be America's Champion Bowler.

Cleveland, O., March 12.—The winner of tonight's bowling games to be rolled by Louis Franz, champion of this city, and Jimmy Smith, the best bowler of Greater New York, will be hailed as the kingpin of American bowlers. Tonight's match will be the second half of the home and home series rolled by the two men, the first having been decided in Brooklyn on Feb. 22.

On Washington's birthday Smith ran away from Franz, taking 14 of the 15 games rolled. The result made the Cleveland man's backers shy about boosting their man, but they declare themselves confident that he will make a better showing tonight. The match is for $1,000 a side, the entire amount going to the man winning the majority of the 30 games. The result in Brooklyn gave Smith a big lead for the money.

WOOD WINS EASILY

New York Skater Forces Baptie to Relinquish Honors.

Cleveland, O., March 12. — Norval Baptie of North Dakota, world's ice-skating champion, surrendered the quarter mile honors to Morris Wood of New York in the opening series of professional skating races here. He retained, however, the one-mile mark, defeating Wood and Nilsson. Charles Rankin retained his honors in the 50-yard dash. No records were broken.

Mother Kills Son and Self.

Rushville, Ind., March 12.—Mrs. Lew Crist of Chicago, who was visiting the family of B. W. Riley here, shot and killed her 11-year-old boy and then killed herself. The bodies were found in the Riley home.

McGee Begins Sentence.

New Haven, Conn., March 12. — Frank F. McGee of Worcester, Mass., national organizer of the molders' union, began a year's sentence for intimidating nonunion men in a local foundry during a recent strike.

Sousa Wins at Traps.

Pinehurst, N. C., March 12.—John Philip Sousa, the march king, was the winner of the trap shooting tournament, shooting from scratch and scoring 83 out of a possible 100.

PLAN FOR NEXT MONDAY'S FIGHT

House "Insurgents" Hold Three-Hour Secret Conference.

MAY EFFECT A COMPROMISE

Members Who Are Opposed to Adoption at Extra Session of Rules That Governed Lower Branch of Congress at Meeting Just Closed Announce That Their Ranks Have Been Augmented by Ten Recruits. New Committee Suggested.

Washington, March 12.—At a session which lasted for more than three hours and was held behind closed doors, the Republican "insurgents" discussed the details of the fight they propose to make next Monday when the Sixty-first congress convenes against the adoption of the rules that governed the session just closed.

Leaders of the movement expressed complete satisfaction with the size of the meeting, claiming that at least ten more members would vote with them against the rules. It is known that much of the time at the meeting was devoted to discussion of a compromise with the organization forces.

The suggestion was made that the "insurgents" enter into a compromise with the regulars whereby a committee would be appointed at the beginning of the special session to revise the rules of the house. Pending the report of the committee the rules of the last house would be enforced.

The sentiment of the meeting was that the speaker should not have the power of appointing the committee, if such a committee compromise was agreed upon.

Those present at the meeting were Representatives Gardiner and Lovering of Massachusetts, Murdock and Madison of Kansas, Hubbard of Iowa, Morse, Cooper, Nelson, Kopp, Cary, Lenroot and Esch of Wisconsin, Miller and Davis of Minnesota, Kinkaid and Hinshaw of Nebraska, Gronna of North Dakota and Poindexter of Washington.

JOINS CHEERFUL CLUB

President Taft Made Member of Optimistic Organization.

Washington, March 12. — President Taft announces that his will be an optimistic administration to an optimistic country, full of hope, cheerfulness and confidence.

The president expressed this sentiment when he became a full fledged member of the Optimist Club of America, upon the invitation of its founder, William J. Robinson of New York. Mr. Robinson, as optimist-at-large, named Mr. Taft a member of the club's executive committee. Andrew Carnegie is president of the organization.

The president declined with regret an invitation extended by Mr. Robinson to attend the club's first annual banquet in New York on March 31. The Optimist club has a membership of 250,000, including men prominent in every walk of life.

DRAWS LONG SENTENCE

Girl's Assailant Goes to Penitentiary For Twenty-one Years.

Towson, Md., March 12.—Joseph M. Janer of Brooklyn, N. Y., was convicted of felonious assault upon Catherine Loerch, 12, also of Brooklyn, and sentenced to 21 years in the Maryland penitentiary, this being the maximum possible under the particular count of the indictment on which conviction was had. The case was tried without a jury, two judges being on the bench. It was in evidence that Janer, early in February, brought the child to Baltimore, represented her to be his daughter, and during two nights, one spent in a disreputable house and the other in a boarding house, repeatedly subjected her to most brutal ill treatment.

When sentence was pronounced Janer showed not the slightest emotion. He was taken immediately to the penitentiary in Baltimore.

IN FORAKER'S HONOR

Members of Ohio Legislature to Banquet Former Senator Tonight.

Columbus, O., March 12. — Covers for more than 100 at $3 each will be laid at the dinner to be given tonight at the Neil House by members of the Ohio legislature in honor of Former Senator Foraker.

It is stated in statehouse circles that the dinner is nothing else but a cementing of the first plans for the candidacy of Mr. Foraker for Senator Dick's seat in two years. It is also said that Foraker has personally sounded some of the members of the legislature as to his candidacy.

DISCUSSES THE BOYCOTT CASE

Gompers Agrees With Views of Dissenting Justice.

WOULD GREATLY MODIFY ORDER

Chief Justice Shepard Says American Federation Should Have Right to Publish Bucks Stove Company In "Unfair List" No Matter What Object May Be—Justice Van Orsdel Sees In Gould's Injunction Menace to Liberty of the Press.

Washington, March 12. — President Samuel Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, in discussing for publication the decision handed down by the court of appeals of the District of Columbia, in which the injunction granted by Justice Gould against the American Federation of Labor and its officers in favor of the Bucks Stove and Range company of St. Louis, is modified to permit the reference to the stove company in the American Federationist except in the "We Don't Patronize" list, said:

"The dissenting opinion of Chief Justice Shepard is exactly that for which the federation has been all along contending, so far as it refers to the freedom of the press. The right to freely express opinions is a constitutional guaranty. There is nothing libelous in anything the federation has published in connection with this whole case."

The decision was handed down by Justice Robb, and holds that the decree should be modified to the extent that it shall only restrain the defendants from conspiring or combining to boycott the Bucks Stove and Range company, or threatening or declaring any boycott or assisting therein, and from printing the name of the complainant, its business or product in the "We Don't Patronize" or "unfair list."

Reasons on Different Lines.

Justice Van Orsdel concurred fully in the conclusion reached by Justice Robb, but by a different process of reasoning.

"The sustaining of such a decree by a court of equity would violate the constitutional rights of the citizen," says Justice Van Orsdel, in referring to Justice Gould's injunction decree. "It would mark the beginning of the era of judicial tyranny by the branch of the government charged with the duty of protecting the citizen in his constitutional or legal rights."

He says further that the clause in the constitution guaranteeing freedom of speech and free press forbids government censorship in all forms. "It would be difficult," he adds, "to conceive of a more effective method of establishing a government censorship than through the writ of injunction."

A partially dissenting opinion was presented by Chief Justice Shepard, who held that the decree should be modified "so as to restrain the acts only by which other persons have been or may be coerced into ceasing from business relations with the Bucks Stove and Range company," but not so as to restrain the publication of the name of that company in the "We Don't Patronize" column of the American Federationist, no matter what the object of such publication may be suspected or believed to be.

DELUGED WITH MAIL

Millers Want Secretary Wilson to Modify Bleached Flour Order.

Washington, March 12.—A formidable movement, the purpose of which is to induce Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to modify or reverse his recent decision in which he held that flour bleached by nitrogen peroxide is an adulterated product under the food and drugs act, is on foot. Hundreds of letters from millers of bleached flour in all parts of the country are being received daily by the secretary asking him to refer his ruling to the referee board of scientific experts for review.

That Secretary Wilson will stand by his decision is indicated by the fact that in his replies to the various communications he declares that he can see no useful purpose in referring the question of bleached flour to the referee board.

WANTS TO BE FIRST

Lone Star Representative Has Inaugural Resolution Ready.

Washington, March 12. — Representative Hesey of Texas asked permission of Speaker Cannon to introduce the first measure in the Sixty-first congress, a joint resolution proposing to amend the constitution of the United States so as to change the date of inauguration from March 4 to April 30.

Herrmann Refuses to Run.

Pittsburg, March 12.—The question agitating the bowlers attending the ninth international tournament of the American bowling congress is whether Augustus Herrmann of Cincinnati, O., president of the association, will accept his old position. Mr. Herrmann positively stated that he would not accept the presidency again under any circumstances.

PROTEST TO LEGISLATORS

Farmers of Ohio Tell What They Think of Recent Session.

Columbus, O., March 12.—Hundreds of letters of protest are being received by members of the general assembly from the farmers of the state against the work of the legislature this session. Most of them are of the same tenor, making the direct charge that the body has done nothing to relieve the farmer and everything it could to increase the farmer's taxes.

The principal objection is to the increase of the salaries of the county recorders and the passage of the armory bill which puts the burden of the maintenance of the National Guard entirely on the property owner. This is the measure which provides a county levy equal to 10 cents per head for every legal resident of the county.

COOPER'S ATTORNEY CONTINUES HIS PLEA

General Washington's Argument Is Full of Invective.

Nashville, Tenn., March 12. — The fifth day of the arguments in the Cooper-Sharp trial for the murder of Former United States Senator E. W. Carmack opened with General Washington in the middle of his argument and two more attorneys to follow him. At this rate it is doubtful if the case will go to the jury before next Saturday.

General Washington will be followed by Judge Anderson, who is expected to make the leading argument for the defense. Judge McCarn will close for the state. Judge Anderson says he will require six or eight hours for his remarks, while Judge McCarn declares four hours will do for him.

General Washington's argument was brilliant in word painting, metaphors, appeal and invective. He made savage attacks upon the state's counsel, and singled out Attorney General J. B. Garner as his special victim. Garner is reputed to have nearly as fiery a temper as has Washington, so counsel for the state insisted upon Garner's withdrawing from the room during Washington's address. The speaker laid special stress upon the social standing and breeding of the defendants, and declared that men of such families killed only in defense of life or honor. His speech was a masterpiece of oratory and had a noticeable effect upon the jury.

WILL DROP PROSECUTION

All but Two Suits Against Standard to Be Abandoned.

Chicago, March 12.—All of the criminal prosecutions of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana pending in the northern district of Illinois, with the exception of two cases, have been abandoned by the government as the result of Judge Anderson's decision, it was announced.

The two cases which may still be pushed are those involving oil shipments from Whiting, Ind., to Evansville, Ind., over the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, by way of Dolton Junction, Ill. The most the government could hope for in these cases is a fine of $1,000,000.

A YOUNG WONDER WHO PAINTS MARVELS

Helen Smith Astonishes the the Disciples of Occultism in Geneva.

Helen Smith, the wonderful girl psychic at Geneva, who is astonishing even those who profess to know the mysteries of occultism and bewildering those who follow the philosophy of materialism, recently finished the fourth painting in the series of seven which she claims she has been inspired to do, and the work is exciting the wonder of art connoisseurs who have seen it.

Miss Minnie Tracey, the prima donna, daughter of Colonel John Tracey, journalist, who at the time of his death was commissioner of charities in Washington, recently returned to Paris from Geneva, where she has made a triumph in the operas of "Tristan und Isode" and "Tannhauser." She is a great friend of Helen Smith and spent much time with her watching her work upon the portrait of Cagliostro, which is Miss Smith's latest work. Speaking of her experience, Miss Tracey said:

"I called upon Miss Smith quite frequently while in Geneva and saw the portrait of Cagliostro grow from its beginning. It was simply wonderful. At first the outline appeared like the features of a young man, but as Miss Smith worked the face grew older and wrinkled. The color of his dress was changed several times during the making of the picture and finally remained a rich brown.

"You understand that Miss Smith is an uneducated girl, without a knowledge of or even an acquaintance with painting. She is always in a trance while doing her work and never takes anything to eat or drink on the day she receives her 'inspiration.' As there is a painting of Cagliostro in the Louvre at Paris, it is proposed to bring the painting by Miss Smith to Paris to compare the likeness of the subconscious work with the real portrait in the museum.

"Miss Smith's work so far has consisted of three other paintings—a 'Crucifixion,' which possesses such strength and originality that it made tears come to my eyes when I looked upon it; 'Christ In Gethsemane' and a 'Virgin.' She has never been out of Geneva and has been a very limited reader. Yet the historic facts she states are always correct, and her knowledge of geography and of places is perfect.

"M. Badin, in whose store Helen acted as a shopgirl until her remarkable psychic manifestations attracted the attention of the psycho-philosophers, told me that Helen never evidenced great intelligence, but that she had a remarkable memory. Whenever she became possessed with an inspiration to paint M. Badin willingly allowed her to go home and remain away as long as she required.

"Through Mrs. James Jackson's generosity she was enabled to give up her position and stay at home to develop her powers.

"The painting of a picture involves much preparation, for the 'inspiration,' or whatever it may be, directs her just how to prepare the canvas or panel on which to paint, indicating the exact size, the kind of wood or canvas to be used and everything to the minutest detail. Even after everything has been prepared this inspirational force often decides to change its mind and will instruct Miss Smith to commence all over again on a new plan.

"She generally starts her portraits with the eyes. The room in which she paints is always in a dim light, and absolute quiet must prevail. She had her first command to paint in 1906, but attributed it to some wild fancy and did not take it seriously, but as the inspiration recurred she followed its instructions and finished her first work, 'The Crucifixion,' in 1908."

THE BILL PROVIDES FOR BACHELOR TAX

The Measure Is Intended To Help Cupid in Handling the Bashful.

Assemblyman John J. Farrell of Milwaukee, Wis., is at work on a bill to make bachelors marry after they reach the age of thirty or pay a penalty for each year's delay. How to provide sufficient punishment for bachelors is the stumbling block. This much is decided:

He will make marriage easy for the bashful and unacquainted. He will provide for the establishment of a state matrimonial bureau, at which persons desiring to avoid the tax and requiring aid may register. From this list the bashful man may pick out a lonely girl, and the fee will maintain the bureau.

In the opinion of Assemblyman Farrell some bachelors simply lack the nerve to ask a woman to marry. This nerve will be supplied through his measure, he thinks.

It is perhaps unnecessary to add that Mr. Farrell is a married man.

The higher a man climbs the harder will be his fall—if he falls.

JACK BINNS TALKS OF HIS EXPERIENCE

Being a Hero Proves a Hard Job—Hero of the Wreck of the Republic.

Jack Binns, the wireless operator of the wrecked steamship Republic, does not think much of the hero business.

"Oh, I tell you it's hades to be a hero," he said while in Philadelphia to see the play "Via Wireless." "They make a bloomin' fool of you and crowd around you and ask you all kinds of fool questions and don't give you any time at all to sleep. I am getting bloomin' well tired of it. Yes, now that you ask me, they have been kissing me, too, some of the New York women have. Gee, man, don't talk; it's fierce."

"What's the matter, Binns? Didn't you like the kisses?"

"It's all right. I am not saying anything, but they ought to give a fellow a rest and let him have a nice, quiet smoke. I'm going right back to New York in the morning and report to my company. I want to get on another boat and get back to sea again. Am I going on the stage? No, sir; never am I going on the stage. That's not my business. I am a wireless operator. That's my business, sir. I might make some money here, maybe, and when I went back to England everybody would be laughing at me. Sure, anybody knows I didn't do anything worth going crazy over. I just did what anybody else would have done in my place. I am not stuck on myself—now, don't you think that," explained Binns in a tone that left no doubt about Jack Binns' decision not to have his head turned.

Louisiana is estimated to waste 75,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily—more than one-twentieth of that consumed in the United States—and the secretary of the interior has withdrawn from entry 6,500 acres of natural gas fields.

SPIRIT WIRELESS IDEA OF PRIEST

The Power of Prayer as Compared with the Work Done in Wireless by Marconi.

Reasonableness of prayer, as proved through the "miracles" of clairvoyance and hypnotism, formed the keynote of the sermon of the Rev. Father William Walsh at high mass the other day in the Church of St. Paul the Apostle in New York city. It is probable that never before were psychical subjects discussed so openly at a Roman Catholic service. Father Walsh not only asserted a belief in the power of spiritualistic mediums, but even cited examples of what he personally had met in investigating the realms of the mysterious and much scoffed at "spirit world."

Father Walsh described the wonders of hypnotism fully and said that if a human being had in him the power to subject another so entirely to the commands of his intellect so much the greater should be the Deity's ability to rule the souls and bodies of mankind. Why is not prayer reasonable, argued the priest, if wireless telegraphy is? That which a few years ago none would have credited as possible now is considered by every one in the light of an obvious development of civilization.

Reason, of course, the sermon observed, never would accept any occurrence until it actually had been demonstrated as practical. The demonstration, too, must be a physical one affecting distinctly at least one of the five senses. But because the reasoning ability in a man decries a seemingly miraculous event is no proof, said Father Walsh, that the rest of his intellectual system will cast it out as untrue. Often a person will subconsciously believe in something, such as superstition, which he would deny absolutely if questioned upon it.

The Rev. Father Walsh is one of the thirty priests, members of the congregation of St. Paul, whose duty it is to travel about the United States as missionaries of the Catholic faith.

The announced subject of the discourse was "Prayer—Is It Reasonable?" By many examples of the consummation of the apparently impossible the preacher sought to convert the minds of his congregation to his view of the efficacy of prayer. In his opening phrases he mentioned those unbelievers who insist that communication with God is impossible.

"They say that for a man to kneel and fix his thoughts upon his Maker and thus establish spiritual communication with him is opposed by every law of the universe and that to have such a feat made possible would mean the breaking of these laws," said the priest. "But Marconi's invention broke no natural laws, though it was at first considered a modern miracle. Why should there not be a spiritual telegraphy to make possible intercourse between God and his humblest subject? Must we see the wires that invisibly connect the kingdom of heaven with the world of mankind to believe in them?

"Clairvoyance and clairaudience are scoffed at as impossibilities. But in my missionary work I have encountered striking examples of these unseen powers. It was my fortune once to become acquainted with the work of a certain clairvoyant, and I, after hearing much of her ability, resolved to put her to a test. With a friend I attended a seance given by this medium. My friend lived more than 250 miles away. As soon as he entered the room the woman said she could tell what was going on in his home.

"She went on to describe in minutest detail all the persons and objects in the room. 'I can see them just as plainly as if I were right among them,' she said. 'Just now they have broken a crucifix and are trying to mend it. The base of the crucifix was smashed in the fall. They are trying to glue it to the cross.'

"My friend wrote home and learned that exactly two weeks before our visit to the clairvoyant the crucifix was broken and mended in the manner described by her. Yet she was unaware even from what part of the country he came. All this only goes to prove that if ordinary mortals have this power how great must be the power of God."

Father Walsh spoke of the wonderful attainments of hypnotism in subjecting one man to the will of another. He said one cannot reconcile the idea of a man being in complete subjection to the brain of a hypnotic specialist with the laws of the universe. Therefore, he added, hypnotism is not to be regarded as the breaking, but merely as a suspension, of such laws.

GOVERNMENT PLANS BIGGER BATTLESHIPS

Some 25,000-Ton Vessels To Carry Fourteen-Inch Guns. Monster Fighters.

Anticipating that future battleships will be larger and will carry heavier guns than any now afloat, the board of construction of the navy department has prepared plans for large battleships of several different types. Two of them contemplate a displacement of 25,000 tons, with a battery of eight fourteen-inch guns mounted in four turrets, two placed forward and two aft.

The third type of vessel will be of 26,000 tons displacement and will carry twelve twelve-inch guns. The vessels are designed for a speed of between 20¼ and 20½ knots an hour.

WILLIAM MERRITT DIES THURSDAY

Death Is the Result of a Lingering Illness.

William Merritt, of Toledo, died of uraemic poisoning at the home of Zebdie Baker, of Harrison street, Thursday morning at 6 o'clock.

Mr. Merritt, who was about forty years of age, came here three weeks ago from Toledo, where he had been confined in a hospital. He had been a sufferer of Bright's disease, an acute attack of which superinduced uraemia. He is a cousin of Mrs. Baker. He is survived by two children.

The remains were shipped to Toledo for interment.

MARK TWAIN ON THE NEW PLANET

The Humorist Tells Why He Is Sure There Is One Near Neptune.

Mark Twain, whose interest in celestial affairs is generally known, contributes to Harper's Weekly his impressions of the new planet which, according to astronomers of Harvard, is believed to be causing perturbations to Neptune. He says:

I believe in the new planet. I was eleven years old in 1846, when Leverrier and Adams and Mary Somerville discovered Neptune through the disturbance and discomfort it was causing Uranus. "Perturbations" they call that kind of disturbance. I had been having those perturbations myself for more than two months—in fact, all through watermelon time, for they used to keep dogs in some of the patches in those days. You notice that these recent perturbations are considered remarkable because they perturbate through three seconds of arc, but really that is nothing. Often I used to perturbate through as much as half an hour if it was a dog that was attending to the perturbating. There isn't any Neptune that can outperturbate a dog, and I know, because I am not speaking from hearsay. Why, if there was a planet 250,000 "light years" the other side of Neptune's orbit Professor Pickering would discover it in a minute if it could perturbate equal to a dog. Give me a dog every time when it comes to perturbating. You let a dog jump out at you all of a sudden in the dark of the moon and you will see what a small thing three seconds of arc is. The shudder that goes through you then would open the seams of Noah's ark itself from figurehead to rudder post, and you would drop that melon the same as if you had never had any but just a casual interest in it. I know about these things, because this is not tradition I am writing, but history.

Now, then, notice this: About the end of August, 1846, a change came over me, and I resolved to lead a better life, so I reformed. But it was just as well anyway, because they had got to having guns and dogs both. Although I was reformed the perturbations did not stop. Does that strike you? They did not stop; they went right on and on and on for three weeks, clear up to the 23d of September. Then Neptune was discovered, and the whole mystery stood explained. It shows that I am so sensitively constructed that I perturbate when any other planet is disturbed. This has been going on all my life. It only happens in the watermelon season, but that has nothing to do with it and has no significance. Geologists and arthropologists and horticulturists all tell me it is only ancestral and hereditary, and that is what I think myself. Now, then, I got to perturbating again last summer—all summer through—all through watermelon time, and where do you think? Up here on my farm in Connecticut. Is that significant? Unquestionably it is, for you couldn't raise a watermelon on this farm with a derrick.

That perturbating was caused by the new planet. That Washington observatory may throw as much doubt as it wants to, it cannot affect me, because I know there is a new planet. I know it because I don't perturbate for nothing. There has got to be a dog or a planet, one or the other, and there isn't any dog around here, so there's got to be a planet. I hope it is going to be named after me. I should just love it if I can't have a constellation.

FIX THE STYLES FOR GARMENTS OF MEN

What the Tailors Decree Men Are To Wear in the Way of Waistcoats.

The Merchant Tailors' National Protective association while in sixth annual convention at Chicago was engaged in fixing the 1909 standards of style in men's garments.

The Charley boy who follows the fashion plates must have a different, specified waistcoat for each day of the week and will have to know his calendar like a priest. The noisiest waistcoat is designed for Wednesday. It has flaps diamond shaped and diamond shaped buttons, pockets with diamond patches, and with it must be worn a diamond pin with a cravat in diamond stripes. Monday the dotted waistcoat, freckled with spots varying in size from a ten cent piece to a silver dollar and cut in curves, must be worn.

Thursday the waistcoat must have strongly pronounced stripes running straight down from shoulder to hips; Friday, stripes running vertically and horizontally; Saturday, stripes running zigzag, like chain lightning, down into one's pockets and over his belt.

The favorite shirt in the spring will be in tan and pink with broad stripes. The cravat will be brilliant red and the hat green. Shoes will follow the lead set by women. Most of the tops will be of gray suede over black patent leather or varnished calfskin. Cloth tops will also be seen on the best promenades.

The double breasted frock coat is superseded by the single breasted with a dip front, called the new "American walking suit," to be worn at almost any time and anywhere except at night.

If a man could ever get enough money to support his family in all they want it would be just his luck to have another one to support.

AN APPENDIXLESS DINNER PLANNED

Over an Hundred Will Banquet Surgeon Who Operates on Them.

A dinner like which there probably has never been one given will be tendered to Dr. John B. Deaver, a well known surgeon, at the University club in Philadelphia on Feb. 15. Seated about the table to do him honor will be 150 physicians and surgeons, upon every one of whom Dr. Deaver had the distinction of using the knife in a surgical operation.

Of this big assembly there will be 125 physicians present, from each of whom Dr. Deaver has removed the appendix, while the remaining twenty-five have reason to be jealous of the others, for upon them the skillful surgeon had the privilege only of performing some less important operation.

To do Dr. Deaver this unusual honor surgeons and physicians minus their appendixes will travel from distant points in the east, west, north and south to be present and hear the experiences of every other professional brother. It will be an honor, indeed, for Dr. Deaver wears the "belt" for having performed more operations for appendicitis than any other surgeon. Not satisfied with that signal honor, he also possesses the record of performing the greatest number of such operations in one year—namely, 450. Just as a little clincher to the title he also has the record for performing the greatest number of such operations in one week.

The committee in charge of this event includes Dr. Henry Stelwagon, chairman; Dr. William S. Wadsworth, coroner's physician; Dr. George M. Ross and Dr. B. Franklin Stahl. Dr. Ross is Dr. Deaver's assistant at the German hospital. Each committeeman is said to have undergone some operation at the hands of the guest of honor.

Dr. Deaver has been chief surgeon at the German hospital for several years, having been graduated from the University of Pennsylvania in 1878. He was professor of anatomy at the university and has lectured extensively on the subject of appendicitis.

MINISTER BELIEVES TELEPATHY COMING

Telepathy Is Just as Certain as Wireless — Optimistic View.

"Wireless telegraphy is a fact. We have it now, and just beyond that is telepathy. We will have that. But it won't come as a devil's side show, presided over by some medium. It will come under the guidance of Divine Providence," said the Rev. Dr. John Wesley Hill the other night at the Metropolitan temple in New York city.

Dr. Hill's sermon was announced as "Business and Religion," and before he started he commented upon the work of John R. Binns, the wireless operator of the wrecked steamer Republic, and the invention of Marconi.

Coming to the subject of telepathy, the preacher said:

"Not long ago I met a friend, who said to me, 'Think of one name,' and I thought of my mother's maiden name, and like a flash he wrote it upon a card. That is telepathy, and that is coming. The wireless telegraph will yet be slow besides the lightning-like interchange of thought—telepathy. We are coming to a new era of the intellectual supremacy of man."

A YACHT TROPHY OFFERED BY TAFT

Catboats of the Great Lakes To Race for Prize To Be Given by Next President.

President Elect Taft has given a trophy to the Toledo (O.) Yacht club to be raced for annually by the catboats of the great lakes. Announcement of the gift was made public at the regular meeting of the club a few nights ago and was received with a storm of cheers from the yachtsmen in attendance.

The trophy will be the property of the Toledo Yacht club, but will be raced for by all of the catboats on the great lakes belonging to the Yachting association. The winner will retain the trophy throughout the season, and then it will be returned to the Toledo Yacht club, to be raced for the following year.

Chairman Gallagher of the regatta committee announced that the exact nature of the trophy had not been determined, although it would probably be a silver loving cup, and it would be known as the President Taft perpetual trophy, to be sailed for in open races each season.

The regatta committee has selected the catboats as the most popular class, and it is expected the existence of the Taft trophy will stimulate a rapid increase in the size of the Toledo fleet.

The divine right of kings is a doctrine promulgated in England in the seventeenth century, which asserts that kings held their authority by divine appointment and as earthly representatives of the deity. This doctrine relieved the sovereign of all responsibility toward his subjects and gave him absolute claim to their obedience.

JUDGE DONNELLY IS INDICTED BY JURY

He Is Charged with Perjury and Embezzlement.

IS THE RESULT OF A RECENT INVESTIGATION

Judge Donnelly Is the Head of the Ohio-German Fire Insurance Company Which Is Barred from Doing Business in Ohio—Unpaid Losses Covered Up by Borrowing.

Michael M. Donnelly, of Napoleon, circuit court judge in this, the Third judicial district of Ohio, was indicted by Lucas county grand jury, Wednesday, on charges of perjury and embezzlement. Donnelly is president of the Ohio-German Fire Insurance company, formerly the Anchor Fire Insurance company. The company was recently barred from doing business in the state after an investigation by the state insurance commissioner.

Donnelly is charged in the indictment with falsifying reports sent to the state insurance department, in which $300,000 in unpaid losses was covered up, with borrowing funds and securities from banks to deceive the department as to the condition of the company, and with using the funds of the company to pay personal debts. The amount involved in the embezzlement indictment is between $150,000 and $200,000.

Donnelly is still on the circuit bench, but has not been sitting in court for some weeks.

Mr. Uhler tells of the "Rest Room" in the new Uhler-Phillips store.

"Yes—we've fitted out a cozy rest-room upon our second floor. It will be a nice quiet and private place—where women-folk can rest on easy seats while the men folk are busy about town. Or where mothers may "hush" the little ones.

"There'll be late magazines to read—a dressing table with mirror—pen and ink and note paper—all for any customer's own free use—and free telephone service.

"Yes, it will very likely be a great convenience for our out-of-town friends—and one which I wish we could have supplied long ago."

The new Uhler-Phillips store will open Monday. 1-wky

CHURCH SOCIETIES OF CITY ENJOY PROGRAM

Presbyterian Societies Hold Nice Meetings.

ATTENDANCE SHOWS MUCH INTEREST

Some Excellent Papers Dealing with Phases of the Mission Field Are Read—Harmonic Society of the Evangelical Protestant Church Is Held Wednesday Evening.

The Home and Foreign Missionary societies of the Presbyterian church held their monthly meeting at the church, Wednesday afternoon, there being a large representation of both societies. The meeting of the Home society preceded the Foreign and opened a program with a song, followed by scripture reading and prayer by Mrs. C. R. Phelps, president of the society.

Mrs. J. B. Hume was leader of the meeting, the program which followed being on the topic, "Methods of Giving." An interesting paper on "Individual System of Giving," was read by Mrs. William Krause. Mrs. J. B. Hume contributed a paper on "The Art of Giving" and the program was concluded with a paper by Mrs. S. B. Lippincott on "Systematic Giving." Mrs. J. B. Hume and Mrs. Rubins were elected delegates to the Presbytery to be held at Delaware next month.

The program of the Foreign society was opened with prayer by Mrs. S. E. Barlow which was followed by the reports of the secretary and treasurer. Mrs. Barlow read a letter from the missionary board, of Philadelphia, in regard to opening a new department.

"Africa" was the topic of the afternoon's program, and an interesting paper on the subject was read by the leader, Mrs. H. T. Van Fleet. Mrs. John Wilson gave a very good paper on "The Problems of Africans." "A Memorable Service In Solodore" was the title of a paper by Mrs. D. O. Weeks. Mrs. U. F. Seffner contributed an interesting paper on "A Day and Night in a Dwarf Village." A song by the society closed the program.

During a business session, Mrs. W. N. Harder and Mrs. S. B. Lippincott were elected delegates to the Presbytery.

Supper was served by the members of class C.

The next meeting of the societies will be held in one month.

Harmonic Society.

The monthly meeting of the Harmonic society, of the Evangelical Protestant Salem church was held at the church, Wednesday evening, there being a large attendance of the members. It was decided to celebrate the twentieth anniversary of the society, April 25, when Rev. C. W. Bernhard, a former pastor of the church, will be here from Cleveland and deliver the sermon.

A called meeting will be at the church next Wednesday evening, and the next regular meeting of the society will be held the second Wednesday in April.

All-Day Quilting.

An all-day quilting was held by the members of the Home Missionary society of the Epworth M. E. church, Wednesday, in the parlors of the church. The regular meeting will be held the last Thursday in the month.

FEBRUARY PROVES RECORD BREAKER

Forty Births Are Reported to the City Registrar.

The month of February was a record breaker in the number of births in the city although it is the shortest month of the year. During the month, forty births were recorded with the registrar for the city proper. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Court are the parents of the only twins born during the month. Twenty of the children born are boys and twenty girls. During the month there were but eleven deaths.

WOMAN FOUND GUILTY OF A BIGAMY CHARGE

Jury Returns Verdict in Case of Mrs. May Givens.

HER TESTIMONY IS WITHOUT SUPPORT

Defendant Claims She Is Told by Attorney That Divorce Is Granted, but Testimony Is Introduced To Show Woman Is in Court When Case Is Dismissed.

After being out about an hour, a jury in the common pleas court of Crawford county at Bucyrus, Wednesday afternoon, returned a verdict of guilty against Mrs. May Givens, who had been indicted for bigamy.

Mrs. Givens was formerly a Miss Windom, and claimed to be a member of the distinguished Ohio family of that name. She later became the wife of James W. Given, from whom she sought to obtain a divorce in the Marion common pleas court on the ground of three years' wilful absence. Her case was heard by Judge Boston G. Young, who dismissed her petition, April 25, 1907. Attorney John D. DeGolley, who represented the plaintiff in the divorce action, says she was in the court-room at the time Judge Young dismissed her petition.

From Marion the would-be divorcee went to Crawford county, where she became acquainted with a man by the name of Willey. She married him. Later he was granted a decree of divorce, and shortly afterward the woman was indicted for bigamy. At her trial on this charge, Judge Young, who had refused to grant her a decree of divorce, happened to be the presiding judge.

At the trial, Mrs. Givens declared that she did not know at the time of her marriage to Willey that she had not been divorced. She claimed that her Marion attorney had informed her that she was divorced, but her story was not supported by the evidence.

The Warner & Edwards Co.

COMMON PLEAS.

As a sequel to the disappearance of Milton H. Lust, a former west Center street grocer, several months ago, Grace B. Lust, his wife, through Attorneys Mouser & Moloney, brought an action for a divorce in the common pleas court, Wednesday. She names a local woman as a corespondent, and sets up that at the time of her husband's disappearance this woman also disappeared. On the grounds of adultery, she asks that she be given a decree of divorce and reasonable alimony.

The Lusts were married at Lynn station, May 22, 1901, and they have no children.

In the suit of the Wollenweber company against Robert M. Pennell and others, Nellie V. Pennell, through Attorney L. E. Myers, filed an answer and cross-petition in the common pleas court, Tuesday afternoon. She sets up that she is the owner of the property described in the petition, denies any fraud on the part of her husband, Robert M. Pennell, and asks that the petition be dismissed.

The defendants are now residents of Flint, Michigan.

The Wollenweber Lumber company against George M. Pennell and others is the title of a suit now pending in the common pleas court, in which the name of Robert M. Pennell, of Flint, Michigan, was made to appear by mistake in the filing of an answer and cross-petition, Tuesday.

THE RACKET STORE.

Partnership Formed.

Mr. T. J. Davies, who has been conducting a tailoring business in this city for the past sixteen years, has formed a partnership with L. H. Neufer, of Syracuse, N. Y., who has been at the head of "The Acme Tailoring Co." of that city, which does a very extensive and up-to-date ladies' and gents' tailoring business. Mr. Neufer is also a graduate from "The Parisian School of Cutting and Designing" of New York City, and is perfectly competent to dress and fit you as ladies and gentlemen of culture and refined tastes.

Ladies can get anything made to order, from the silk petticoat to the outermost garment, at surprisingly low prices. You can have your garments made from your own cloths or you can select from their large line of spring and summer woolens, silks, voiles and panamas. Call on the new firm and get their prices or telephone R-1347 and they will call on you with a line of samples and up-to-date fashions.

They will also continue to do gents' tailoring and invite the closest inspection of materials, fashions and prices. Call on others, get their prices, and then call on the new firm and get theirs.

After you have done this, go buy where you can buy the cheapest and at the same time be satisfied that you will have a square deal.

The new firm is located at Mr. Davies' old stand on Court street until April 1st, when they will move to new quarters and notice of their change of location will be given through the columns of this paper.

They earnestly solicit your inspection and patronage. The new firm name is

The Model Tailoring Co. of Marion
Court Street, Pilgrim Inn Building.

NEGRO BURNED AT THE STAKE

He Accepts His Fate Like a Spartan Hero.

HE DOES NOT MAKE SLIGHTEST OUTCRY

Confesses He Attempts Assault on White Woman.

Texas Mob Acts Quickly After Its Victim Is Identified by the Woman He Seeks To Wrong—Previous to the Cremation of Its Victim It Shoots Down a Colored Man Suspected of Hiding Him.

Rockwell, Tex., March 8—Andrew Ellis, colored, was taken from the county jail, secured to a post in the public square, and burned to death in the presence of about 1,000 persons. The crime for which he paid the horrible penalty was an attempted assault on Mrs. Arthur McKinney, who identified Ellis when brought to the city from a farmhouse where he was captured after a desperate fight with a posse of officers and citizens.

Earlier in the evening Will Clark, a negro, was shot and instantly killed when his father, Andrew Clark, refused permission to a posse to search his premises on the assumption that Ellis was concealed there. People were here from several towns and from Dallas, Collin and Hunt as well as Rockwell county, to witness the execution of the negro.

Ellis admitted his guilt, but refused to make a statement or to leave farewell messages for his relatives. He did not utter a cry as the pile of cordwood, which had been well saturated with kerosene, was set afire, nor did he show loss of nerve as the flames cooked his flesh. He was dead within nine minutes after the torch had been applied.

WILL START ON A LARGE SCALE

Wright Brothers To Increase Output of Aeroplanes.

Dayton, O., March 8.—Orville and Wilbur Wright are expected to reach their home here about May 1. Their brother, Lorin, who gives out this information, says that recent reports regarding British interests in the Wright aeroplane are rather belated, for that government has already closed a contract and the Wrights shop in this city is at work on a machine for delivery.

Lorin Wright says that as soon as the inventors return the manufacture of aerial machinery will start on a large scale, as orders are already accumulating. Many of these are from private individuals, who want aeroplanes for pleasure vehicles or advertising purposes.

Preparations are making for a great reception to the aeronauts. Business houses will close and the whole day will be devoted to a celebration.

AIRSHIP VOYAGE ACROSS ATLANTIC

Effort To Be Made To Interest King Alfonso.

New York, March 8.—Armed with letters of introduction from European diplomats in Washington, Joseph Brucker, formerly commissioner to Germany for the St. Louis World's fair, will sail this week for Spain for the purpose of interesting King Alfonso in the sailing of a fleet of airships on a pioneer voyage across the Atlantic ocean. Mr. Brucker believes that ships of the Zeppelin type, if launched from some port in Spain and kept within the southwest slant of the trade winds, will be able to make the trip to this continent in five days.

CARICATURES OF ST. PATRICK

Are Offensive to the Ancient Order of Hibernians.

Pittsburg, March 8.—Called by the Ancient Order of Hibernians, a mass meeting of Catholic societies of Allegheny county was held here, at which resolutions were adopted protesting against the sale of postal cards ridiculing St. Patrick and the Irish race.

A committee was appointed to communicate the resolutions in person to dealers in cards. Congressman Joseph O'Connell of Boston was one of the speakers at the meeting.

Rasor Guilty of Manslaughter.

Medina, O. March 8. Guy Rasor was found guilty of manslaughter by the jury trying him for the murder of his sweetheart, Orle Lee, Oct 8. The penalty is a sentence of one to twenty years in the penitentiary.

ANARCHIST FERRER BACK AT GIBRALTAR

It's Believed There's a Plot Against Spanish Royalty.

Gibraltar, March 5.—Ferrer, the anarchist, who was implicated in the bomb outrage at the time of King Alfonso's marriage, was returned to Gibraltar today after having been deported from Algeciras, where he went with the intention, it is believed, of again attempting the life of the Spanish king.

Ferrer left Gibraltar several days ago for Algeciras, where the king arrived yesterday, but the Spanish police were notified of his movements, and they immediately intercepted him.

Messages from Madrid today say that the bomb found in the royal gardens, Wednesday, was not the mere hoax that the police tried to make it appear, but a most deadly infernal machine. Authorities here believe that a plot to exterminate the Spanish royal family was thwarted by the narrowest margin.

A SALOON ROW ENDS IN MURDER

One Man Is Dead and Another Is in Critical Condition.

Columbus, O., March 8.—A row in a saloon of Frank J. Nemeth, Sunday night, over a pool game culminated in the murder of John Sabo, twenty-one, and his brother, George, thirty-two, is at Mercy hospital in a critical condition with two bullet wounds.

Frank Zdo, Nemeth's bartender, surrendered himself this morning. Zido claims he killed the one man and wounded the other in self-defense, after they had attacked and beaten him with brickbats. His story is corroborated by a badly-swollen lip and a bruised right shoulder.

All the parties concerned in the trouble are Hungarians.

The Sabo brothers are said to have been drinking heavily.

DEATH LIST OF MORE THAN 200

With Millions of Dollars of Property Loss,

AS RESULT OF THE BLIZZARD IN EUROPE

150 Lives Lost in Mountains of Austria Alone.

They Are Victims of Avalanches. Seventeen Persons, Nine of Them Children, Are Buried in a Farmhouse at Granz—Forty People Lose Their Lives in the Crushing of a Shelter-House.

Vienna, March 8.—A total death list of more than 200, with millions of dollars' worth of property destroyed, will result from the blizzard that has raged throughout a large part of Europe for the last three days, according to straggling reports that are reaching here today.

It is known that more than 150 persons have been killed in avalanches in the Austrian mountains alone.

A farmhouse at Granz was buried; seventeen persons being killed, nine of whom were children.

Forty people lost their lives in the crushing of a shelter house for railway men in the Anluf valley. Twelve men were rescued from this house.

NATIONAL COLORS BARRED TO STAGE

By Bill Introduced in the Minnesota Legislature.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 9.—A penalty of $500 is provided for wearing the national colors on the stage in the form of tights, by a bill just introduced in the Minnesota legislature. The proposed measure is indefinite as to whether or not a red, white and blue spotlight may send a whole platoon of chorus girls to the penitentiary and whether red, white and blue legs, each worn by different girls, will make the wearers liable.

LOEB MAKES A QUICK CHANGE

Leaves Washington Today To Take New Position Tomorrow.

Washington, March 8. William Loeb, Jr., who was named by President Taft as collector of the port of New York, left Washington today. He will take charge of the New York customs house tomorrow morning. Mr. Loeb has been detained here superintending the removal of some of Mr. Roosevelt's personal effects and their shipment to Oyster Bay.

Most druggists can furnish an imitation—or something just as good.

SULLIVAN ON COMMISSION

Takes His Place as Commissioner of Railways.

MORRIS GIVES UP HIS FIGHT

Removes Personal Belongings from Board Room.

It Is Expected That the Big List of Patronage Under the Commission Will Soon Pass, in the Main, from the Republicans to the Democrats as a Result of the Succeeding of Morris by Sullivan.

Columbus, O., March 8.—John C. Sullivan, Democrat, of Hamilton, became a member of the state railway commission a few minutes after 10 o'clock this morning, through recognition of President Oliver H. Hughes and Member O. P. Gothlin, of the commission. James C Morris, of Youngstown, who was reappointed by Governor Harris just before the latter went out of office, having, apparently, abandoned the contest that has been on since February 1.

Mr. Morris was not at the office of the commission today and if any one had any definite knowledge of his whereabouts, they were not free to *tell it. The fact that Morris had re*moved his framed commission from the wall of his office and there were other signs of personal belongings having been removed, bore out the theory of the fight having been abandoned.

By the seating of Sullivan, appointee of Governor Harmon, the commission becomes Democratic, President Hughes being the other Democratic member and Mr. Gothlin, the only Republican member.

It is expected that, while it will not be a whirlwind affair, the big list of patronage under the commission will soon pass, in the main, from the Republicans to the Democrats.

CORTELYOU GETS A SILVER LOVING CUP

An Expression of Respect of His Associates.

Washington, March 9.—After the oath of office was administered, Monday to the new secretary of the treasury, Franklin MacVeagh, Comptroller Tracewell, in a speech praising Cortelyou's administration, presented the retiring secretary with a magnificent silver loving cup.

It was a token of appreciation from Cortelyou's associates in the department. When the comptroller uncovered the cup he told the ex-secretary that its "polished surface is no brighter or cleaner than is your record as secretary of the treasury."

STEALS SOCKS TO CALL ON MAID

Now He Must Work Out Sixty-Day* Sentence on Road.

Montgomery, Ala., March 9.—Because his sweetheart, Miss Mary Gattack, refused to let him call on her until he came properly clad with socks on his feet, C. Burton, Gadsden, was moved to steal a pair of those unwonted articles of apparel, and will spend sixty days at hard labor on the county road as a result. Burton says he told Miss Gattack that socks were a luxury he could not afford while contemplating matrimony.

WILL PAINT PORTRAIT OF CARDINAL GIBBONS

A Russian Princess Arrives in This Country.

New York, March 9.—The Princess Lwoff-Parlaghy, of Russia, said to be worth $6,000,000 and accompanied by two attaches, two uniformed guards, two maids, one little white dog and fifty variegated trunks containing still more variegated dresses, arrived yesterday aboard the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria. The princess will go to Baltimore to paint a portrait of Cardinal Gibbons.

To Plead Unwritten Law.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 9.—*Charged with murdering Frank Mel*drum, whom he declares he found in his sister's bedroom at midnight, Ralph Hickman, nineteen, will go on trial for his life at Harrisville, Ritchie county Wednesday. Hickman, it is alleged, with a club drove Meldrum over a steep declivity of rocks at the bottom of which his dead body was found. The defense will plead the unwritten law.

Two Children Drowned.

Barberton, O., March 8. Louis Sabo, four years and John Sabo, six years, fell into Wolf creek Sunday and were drowned. Police and firemen searched all night for the bodies but up to a late hour this morning have been unable to find the bodies. The children were playing ball when they tumbled into the stream.

HERBERT KNOX SMITH, WHO LAYS BARE METHODS OF THE TOBACCO TRUST.

Herbert Knox Smith, United States commissioner of corporations, made some startling disclosures regarding the methods of the tobacco trust in his recent report on that organization. He declares that many so called independent concerns engaged in the tobacco business secretly operate under the direct control of the larger company. In concluding his report he says: "Many weaker concerns have been virtually driven out of business or forced to sell out to the combination either by reason of the direct competition of the latter or as an indirect result of the vigorous competition between the combination and larger independent concerns. In the case of the larger and more powerful concerns which it acquired, however, the combination has usually secured control only by paying a high price. The immense profits of the combination have enabled it to keep up this policy."

GEORGE OLIVER SELECTED TODAY

To Succeed Philander C. Knox in the* Senate.

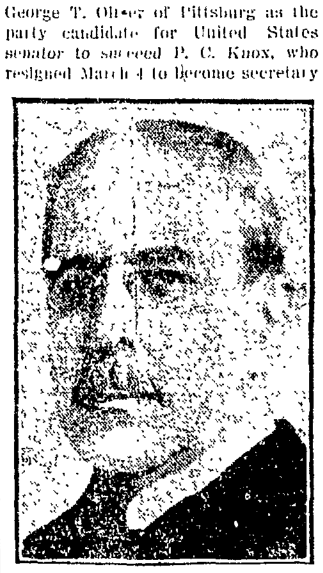
Harrisburg, Pa., March 9.—The Republican members of the two houses of the general assembly met in joint caucus this morning and selected George T. Oliver of Pittsburg as the party candidate for United States senator to succeed P. C. Knox, who resigned March 4 to become secretary of state in President Taft's cabinet. Mr. Knox's term would have expired March 4, 1911, and the new senator to be elected will serve out the unexpired term.



GEORGE T. OLIVER.

Picked by Pennsylvania Republicans to Succeed Senator Knox.

THE DEATH LOSS PLACED TOO LOW

Telegraph and telephone wires are down. Throughout Arkansas the telegraph companies have suffered and news from the storm swept region is coming in slowly.

Special relief trains have been hurried from all the nearby cities to Brinkley. A special train from here was started early today. No news has yet been heard from it.

The storm damage throughout this state is reported heavy. The storm seemed to follow a general northeasterly course curving to the right and making a sweep half way across the state. At Bincum and Brindley, it assumed the proportions of a tornado.

Damage is reported in the vicinity of Gurdon in the southwestern part of the state.

E. B. Adams a farmer near Kerr, was fatally hurt.

Communication with western and southern Arkansas is difficult because of the crippled condition of the telegraph and telephone companies. Little Rock is reported to be almost completely cut off from the west and south.

MAY KNOCK OUT TWO-CENT RATES

That's the View of an Attorney on McPherson Decision.

Kansas City, March 9.—Missouri's two-cent passenger and maximum freight laws were nullified by a decision handed down here in the United States district court by Judge McPherson of Red Oak, Ia. As a result it is believed there will be a quick return in Missouri to the three-cent fares, and Frank Hagerman, for the 18 companies involved, asserts the decision sounds the death knell of the two-cent rate in every state in the Union.

Legislature Comes Right Back.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 9.—Following the adverse decision to the state in the federal court at Kansas City, Speaker Speer of the Missouri house of representatives introduced a bill prohibiting the issuing of passes by railroads under penalties of a fine of from $10 to $100. Employes and charity workers are exempted from the bill. It is expected that much adverse railroad legislation will be started. Representative Cross introduced a bill requiring all railroads doing business in the state to incorporate in Missouri. This will give the state control of the railroads.

GIRL KILLED BY A HIGHWAYMAN

Baltimore Girl Slaps Robber's Face When Asked for Necklace.

Baltimore, Md., March 9. Jennie Reed, 21, was murdered by a highwayman at Mount Washington, a residence suburb. She and Joseph Mueller, to whom she was engaged to be married, were on the way to visit friends at Mount Washington, and, according to Mueller's statement, left the car at South avenue. When they had walked half a block and were in a lonely place they were stopped by a man who, leveling a pistol, called for their valuables.

Mueller, he says, gave up what money he had, and then the highwayman demanded a necklace worn by Miss Reed. Her reply was a slap in the face, upon receiving which the man fired, the bullet striking the girl behind the left ear. She was carried into a nearby house, but death had been almost instantaneous.

FIRES TWO BULLETS INTO HER LOVER

Young Man Asks for Postponement of Wedding.

Keystone, W. Va., March 9.—Miss Mary Saunders last night fired two bullets into the body of Neal Young, her affianced lover, which will unquestionably cause his death. Young and Miss Saunders had fixed Sunday last as their wedding day, but for some unexplained reason the young man asked for a postponement. Half an hour after he visited the Saunders home last night the shooting occurred. The girl has been placed under arrest. She refuses to make any statement regarding the affair.

THEY CUT AWAY JUST THE SAME

Harrisburg, Pa., March 9.—Operated on for appendicitis while in reality suffering tonsilitis, eight-year-old Rosie Cohen is today recovering in a local hospital. The girl was placed, through the mistake of a nurse, in the ward reserved for appendicitis patients and was operated on before the truth was known.

THE MINISTER MUST ANSWER HER CHARGES

Rev. E. B. Crawford Will Be Tried by Board.

Chicago, March 9.—When Rev. E. B. Crawford, pastor of the Woodlawn Park M. E. church, goes on trial, Wednesday, before an ecclesiastical board on charges brought by Mrs. John Lavender, a member of his flock, the complainant will demand that the minister be unfrocked.

Friends of the minister and the woman are gathering evidence and the trial promises to develop one of the biggest sensations the church has witnessed in years. Mrs. Lavender's principal charges are that the minister in the first place betrayed the confidence that should exist between pastor and communicant and that further he made public an alleged "confession" by the woman which was false. This alleged "confession," she declares, was used to blacken her reputation and to destroy the reputation and force the resignation of Rev. John D. Leek from the pastorate of the Western Avenue M. E. church.

Mrs. Lavender alleges that she and Rev. Leek have been constantly "spied on" by women.

Mrs. Lavender will also be tried beginning next Saturday.

TRAGEDIES RESULT FROM ELOPEMENTS

The Parties to Both of Them Are Italians.

Chicago, March 9.—Two Italian tragedies, both the result of elopements, confront the police.

Michael Pessalano, twenty, is under arrest on charge of murder because he shot and killed Frank Serino after the latter is alleged to have forced Pessalano's sister to elope with him to New York.

Pessalano in his cell asserted that he only visited justice on Serino. Two weeks ago Josie Pessalano married Patrick Fresso, after Serino had also sued for her hand. A week later Serino, placing a revolver to the bride's head, told her he would kill her unless she eloped with him. In fear, she went with him to New York. Sunday, on their return, Passalano waited for Serino and shot him dead.

Simultaneously with this killing, Mrs. Givanni Muoli, of New York, took bichloride of mercury and is dying at a local hospital. She eloped with Muoli from New York a week ago. She alleges that her brother threatened to kill her if she married and late last night, fearing he would carry out his threat, she took poison.

MAYOR AND BOARD HAVE BEEN ENJOINED

From Letting Contract for New City Hall at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Mayor Bookwalter and his board of works have been enjoined from letting the contract for the new city hall, on which scores of contractors from all over the country expected to bid. The injunction was filed by the taxpayers' league, which openly charged the mayor with fraud and turning city funds to his own use. Mayor Bookwalter issued a statement Monday calling the instigators "contemptible pups of the gutter" and says he regrets "that he don't live in the Rocky mountains where they don't wait for the courts to right a foul slander." Suit for criminal slander will be filed by the mayor against the two members of the Taxpayers' league who filed the suit.

JAPS WILL BUILD BIG STEEL PLANT

Will Equip To Manufacture Guns of All Sizes.

London, March 9.—The Japanese government will erect a great steel plant at Tokyo. The plant will be equipped to manufacture guns of all sizes and will make armor plate of every character. The Japanese government has closed contracts with the steel erecting and gun making firms of Armstrong-Whitworth company of Newcastle, and Vickers Sons and Maxim of Barrow, to build the new plant.

A BALLOONIST DROPS TO DEATH

California Aeronaut Carried Out to Sea and Drowns.

Los Angeles, Cal., March 9.—Lester Elkins, 22, an aeronaut, who attempted a balloon flight and parachute jump at San Pedro, was carried by a strong wind out over the ocean, and from a height of 4,500 feet dropped into the outer bay and was drowned.

FLORIDA'S KEEL IS LAID TODAY

Sister Ship to the Great Battleship Utah,

BEGUN NOT LONG AGO AT CAMDEN

Historic Date Is Chosen for the Event.

It Was March 9, 1862, That the Monitor Fought the Merrimac in Hampton Roads—Florida and Utah Will Be Most Powerful Vessels in United States Navy and Equal to Any Afloat.

New York, March 9.—Ceremonies almost equal to those of a launching marked the laying of the keel of the new battleship Florida at the Brooklyn navy yard today. The occasion was marked by the presence of a large number of invited guests from Washington, New York and Brooklyn.

Today's date is a memorable one in the history of the navy. On March 9, 1862, the Monitor, which was constructed in Brooklyn, fought the Merrimac in Hampton Roads.

The Florida and her sister ship, the Utah, will be the two most powerful vessels of the United States navy and will be equal to any afloat. They will be 25,000 ton vessels. The keel of the Utah was recently laid at Camden, N. J. She is being constructed by a private shipbuilding firm, and there is great rivalry between her builders and the navy yards here in regard to the time of completion of the two ships. Every effort will be made by the government constructors in charge of the Florida's building to have her completed before the Utah is ready for launching. The local navy yard officials are proud of their record in constructing the Connecticut, flagship of the around the world fleet, but they will try to surpass that record in building the Florida.

There is already a Florida, a coast defense monitor, on the navy list, but she will have to yield the name to the battleship.

MRS. OTTO HEINZE GETS HER NECKLACE

Necklace Is Lost, and Found by a Greek.

Omaha, Neb., March 9.—After a separation of four months, Mrs Otto Heinze, of New York, and her $75,000 pearl necklace were united at the police station here, Monday. Mrs. Heinze identified the necklace and returned it to the custody of the police to await legal proceedings in a justice court on the question of the reward.

The necklace was dropped by Mrs. Heinze during or after a theater party at the Knickerbocker hotel, New York. John Savis, a Greek, found it and came to Omaha where he was arrested after trying to sell one of the gems.

STEAMERS BURN TO WATER'S EDGE

As the Result of Explosion of a Lantern.

Gallipolis, O., March 9.—An exploding lantern burned the steamers, J. M. Bowell and Emma Marie, to the water's edge in the mouth of the Great Kanawha river early Mon*day morning. Captain Peter Lal*lance and crew of the Bowell had a narrow escape when the can of oil exploded. The Bowell is owned by Cap*tain* Fred Hartweg, Cincinnati, and the Emma Marie by Captain W. E. Smiley, Catlettsburg, Kentucky. The loss is $25,000, partly insured.

ASSASSINATED AT THE TABLE

Is a Wealthy Farmer Living Near Memphis Last Night.

Memphis, Tenn., March 9.—L. L. Channell, wealthy farmer living six miles east of Memphis, was assassi*nated late last night by a man who* stood in the front yard of Channell's home and fired through the window, killing Channell as he sat at the table eating lunch with his wife. Ernest Hill, a neighbor, has been arrested on suspicion but denies he fired the shot, although a recently discharged shotgun was found in his room.

Bill Is Defeated.

Columbus, O., March 9.—Senator Bader, Cincinnati, tried to force a reconsideration of the Longworth amendment bill today. Although several Democrats had promised Cincinnati members to support the action, it was defeated and the bill is now dead. Its passage was demanded by Cox.

Jewelry Store Looted.

Lima, O., March 9.—A stranger entered the H. C. Thew jewelry store at noon today and, while a clerk was in the rear, looted the cases of $1,000 worth of gems.

5. (a) A man wishes to build a house 28 feet by 32 feet. He needs four sills each 6 inches by 8 inches, to put under the walls. How much will they cost at $18.00 per M.?

(b) How many feet of siding are necessary for this house, supposing it to be 18 feet high, the siding being 5 inches wide and laid 4 inches to the weather, no allowance being made for gables, doors or windows?

6. (a) A certain district contains taxable property valued at $150,000.00. The board of education has built a schoolhouse costing $1,800.00? What will the school-house cost a taxpayer whose property is valued at $4,800.00?

(b) Express a tax rate of one mill as a rate per cent.

7. Write a rule for finding (a) the area of a circle when the radius is given; (b) the surface of a sphere when the radius is given; (c) the volume of a pyramid.

8. A father gave his son his promissory note for $225.00, due when the son became 21 years old. The rate of interest was 5%, and when the note became due, the principal and interest, together amounted to $303.75. How old was the son when the note was given?

WRITING.

Writing will be graded from the manuscript in orthography.

PHYSIOLOGY.

1. Locate the carpal bones; the tarsal bones.

2. Mention two common foods usually classified as carbonaceous; two usually classified as nitrogenous.

3. In what part of the alimentary canal is lean meat mainly digested? Starch? Fats?

4. Define a tissue; an organ; a system.

5. What is each of the following: cornea, clavicle, periosteum, aorta, fibrin?

6. Discuss the composition of the blood and give its uses.

7. Name the conditions necessary to seeing.

8. Describe the structure of the cerebrum.

9. Name the organs that are directly concerned in the excretion of waste matter from the body.

10. How does alcohol affect the heart in regard to the frequency of its beats; its muscle cells?

UNITED STATES HISTORY INCLUDING CIVIL GOVERNMENT.

1. Compare the motives which prompted the English and Spanish to attempt to found settlements in America.

2. How were European territorial possessions in America affected by the treaty of 1763?

3. Name some English statesmen at the time of the Revolution, and give the views each held in regard to the attitude of the Colonists.

4. Explain clearly two provisions of the Ordinance of 1787.

5. Which were the most important two campaigns of the Mexican War? Name an American general in each.

6. To what political party did each of the following belong: Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Douglas, Blaine? Mention an important measure advocated by each.

7. Mention some of the important events which occurred in the Shenandoah Valley at the time of the Civil War. What was the strategic importance of this valley?

8. Mention three ideas of national policy advocated by President Roosevelt. Discuss one of them.

9. How are representatives apportioned among the states? How often must congress convene?

10. State two points of difference between a grand jury and a petit jury.

READING.

Examiners will conduct an oral examination in reading.

LITERATURE.

(Select any eight.)

1. How do you account for the fact that the works of Shakespeare have stood the test of three hundred years?

2. Give the author of each of the following: The Star Spangled Banner, Representative Men, Thanatopsis, The Prisoner of Chillon, Lycidas.

3. Name some works of Scott and some works of Dickens that you would recommend for use in the elementary grades.

4. Name five English prose writers and a work of each.

5. Give a brief synopsis of one of the following: Hamlet, Evangeline, Scarlet Letter, Paradise Lost.

6. What is elegiac poetry? Quote at least one stanza from a well known elegy, and name the author.

7. Give several points in support of the statement that Lincoln's Gettysburg speech is a model of English.

8. Sketch the life of the author of The Chambered Nautilus.

9-10. Select a poem from any school reader with which you are familiar and show how you teach it, covering the following points: memorizing, allusions, word study, reproduction.

GEOGRAPHY.

1. Define solar year, longitude, zone, map.

THE HEAVENS IN MARCH; JUPITER NOW VISIBLE ALL NIGHT

Something of Interest Found in Jupiter's Satellites—Questions Presented as to Some of the New Satellites of Planet.

The planet, Jupiter, is now just past opposition, and is visible all night long—the chief ornament of the sky. While the amateur astronomer, with a small telescope, may find delight in watching its markings, changing hour by hour before his eyes as the planet rotates, and the varying aspects of its four large satellites, the most powerful instruments of some of the world's greatest observatories will be busy photographing its faint outer satellites, which can be observed only in this way.

The faintest and most distant of these—discovered last year at Greenwich—has been found again, on photographs taken at the same place on January 16, very near the place predicted by the calculations of Cowell and Crommelin, of which we spoke some months ago.

These new satellites of Jupiter, so much like the asteroids, and so distant from their primary, naturally make us ask: Have they really always belonged to Jupiter's system, or are they stray asteroids, which, having at some time passed near the planet, have been "captured" by its attraction, and left revolving around it?"

To see how this problem can be attacked, let us imagine first that we are dealing with a projectile shot upward from the surface of Jupiter at a fixed velocity. If this is small—say that of a cannon ball—it will rise only a few miles, and then fall back upon the planet. As the initial velocity is increased, the height to which it will rise, before Jupiter's attraction puts an end to its ascent, will increase.

If nothing but the planet's attraction came into play, this height would be the same, from whatever part of the planet's surface the shot was fired—neglecting certain small effects due to the elliptical form of the planet. That is, the projectile can never get beyond a certain distance from the planet's center. Wherever it starts, and wherever it goes, it must always be inside a sphere whose center is the planet. The size of this sphere depends on the initial velocity alone.

If now we take into account the fact that the sun, as well as Jupiter, attracts the projectile, we find, after calculation, that the region to which it is confined is no longer spherical, but egg-shaped, with its long end pointing toward the sun. As before, the height above the planet's surface to which it may rise is limited; but in the direction of the sun it is greater than in the opposite direction.

If the initial velocity of the projectile is increased, this egg-shaped region grows bigger in all directions, but especially toward the sun.

As we still increase the velocity, we reach a point at which the projectile, if aimed in the right direction, will pass beyond the "neutral point" where the influence of the attraction of Jupiter balances that of the sun, and escape from the planet's influence, for a time at least. For velocities greater than this, the egg-shaped region must be replaced by one resembling an hour-glass with two unequal bulbs, the small one surrounding Jupiter, and the big one the sun.

Now, in order to calculate the size and shape of this limiting region, we need not assume—as we did above for the sake of clearness—that our moving body started from the surface of Jupiter. We may start it anywhere in the planet's vicinity; and if we know its distances from Jupiter and from the sun, and the direction and speed of its motion, we can determine the shape of the limiting region.

If this is egg-shaped, and surrounds Jupiter alone, the body, however the sun's attraction may change the shape of its orbit, can never leave the planet altogether, but it must always remain, and, reckoning backward, always has been, a satellite.

But if it includes both the sun and planet, it is then possible that the small body's orbit about Jupiter may be so changed that at some future time it will pass through the neck of the hour glass, and recede very far from the planet; and of course the reverse process may have occurred in the past.

When the actual computations are made, it is found that the sixth and seventh satellites of Jupiter, as well as all those of the other planets, are of the first sort. They always have been near their primaries, and always will be. But the eighth satellite is an example—and the only known one—of the other case. It may be a captured asteroid and may at some future time rejoin its former fellows; but at present it is impossible to say whether it has ever actually done so, or ever will.

The Heavens.

The winter constellations are now well past the meridian. Taurus is almost due west, Orion about southwest, and Canis Major west of south. On the other side of the Milky way, and higher up, are Canis Minor and Gemini. The latter constellation bears some faint resemblance to its prototype, and what is more remarkable, to its conventional sign, which consists of two parallel lines joined at top and bottom. The bright stars, Castor and Pollux, are in the heads of the figures whose name they bear. No other two bright stars visible in our latitude are nearly as close together, and they cannot be mistaken when once seen. Castor is a fine double, easily seen with a small telescope. The faint star near by is moving with the other two, which revolve about one another in a period of some 350 years.

Auriga is northwest of the zenith, with Perseus below. Cassiopeia and Cepheus are below the pole on the left, and Ursa Minor and Draco on the right.

Ursa Major is high up in the northeast, splendidly displayed. The curve of its tail—the Dipper handle—followed downward points out Arcturus, which has just risen south of east, and still lower in Spica, in the constellation Virgo. Above this is Leo, with Jupiter far outshining any of his stars. Cancer, almost overhead, is worth looking at only for the star cluster Praesepe—interesting in opera glass. Hydra in the southeast has but one solitary bright star, Alphard; but its long line descending from near Procyon to the horizon is fairly conspicuous. Argo, low in the south, is one of the finest constellations in the heavens: but we never see its brightest stars at all, nor the rest of it well.

The Planets.

Mercury is morning star, best visible about the 9th, when he is at his greatest apparent distance from the sun; but he is far south, and rises only about 5:20 a. m., so he is not favorably placed.

Venus is morning star, still nearer the sun than Mercury, and can hardly be seen at all, except just before sunrise at the beginning of the month.

Mars is morning star in Sagittarius, rising about 3 a. m. He is still too far away to look very bright, being four times as remote from us as he will be in September.

Jupiter is in Leo, just past opposition and observable till near daybreak. His satellites can be seen with a field glass, and even a small telescope will show much detail on his disk. The full list of the transits and eclipses of the satellites is too long to be given here, but it may be mentioned that, about midnight on the 5th, both the first and third satellites, and their shadows, will be projected upon the planet's disk.

Saturn is evening star in Pisces, setting about 8 p. m. on the 1st, but becomes lost in the twilight before March is over.

Uranus is morning star in Sagittarius. On the mornings of the 26th and 27th he will be very near Mars—to the left on the first date, and above on the second, as seen in the morning sky—and so he can be easily identified.

Neptune is in Gemini, observable all the evening.

The Moon.

Full moon occurs at 10 p. m. on the 6th, last quarter at 11 p. m. on the 14th, new moon at 3 p. m. on the 21st, and first quarter at noon on the 28th.

The moon is nearest us on the 21st, and farthest off on the 7th. She is in conjunction with Neptune on the 1st, Jupiter on the 6th, Mars and Uranus on the 16th, Mercury on the 19th, Venus on the 20th, Saturn on the 22d, and Neptune again on the 29th.

At 1 a. m. on the 21st the sun crosses the equator, passing through the point in the heavens known as the vernal equinox, and, in almanac language, "spring commences."—By Henry Norris Russell of Princeton University.

STEEL TRUST PRICES.

Since the panic which began in 1907 the steel trust has adhered stubbornly to the prices which it had fixed before the financial trouble began, thus becoming a most important, if not the chief factor, in continuing the business depression. But the powerful and arrogant trust has been compelled to lower its prices and it now announces that will sell in an open market because the few independent steel makers cut their schedule of prices sharply on structural steel, which resulted in a building boom in several sections of the country and brought a rush of orders.

It was the competition created by the independents that forced the trust to abandon its high prices in spite of the fact that it controls ninety per cent. of the supply of iron ore and about seventy-five per cent. of the manufacturing facilities. But it is generally understood that in meeting the cuts of the independents the steel trust is preparing for a price war with the purpose of driving the outside steel makers to the wall, stamping out all competition and making its monopoly absolute. When these things shall have been accomplished its prices will be raised again to the old figures, and, perhaps, put several notches higher.

It is an interesting fact that a few weeks ago the officials of the trust, testifying before the ways and means committee at Washington, argued against any reduction of the tariff duties on steel and iron products on the ground that the interests of the small manufacturers would be imperiled. Therefore it is evident that the trust's declaration of war on the independent steel makers is strikingly inconsistent with its recent solicitude for their welfare, which, it was asserted, would be seriously menaced if the steel duties of the tariff were reduced.

In the present situation congress should be able to see its duty clearly. It should, if it desires to be fair and just, remove all tariff protection on steel and iron, and put the war of the steel trust on an equal footing as far as possible by permitting the small independent mills to procure their raw material from Canada and Mexico. There will be no excuse for failing to do so, because it has been demonstrated during the hearing of the ways and means committee that the iron and steel industry is no longer in need of tariff protection. Therefore, if the independent mills are allowed to have the benefit of free raw material, it may not be an easy task for the steel trust to put them out of business.—Philadelphia Ledger.

TO MAKE ISLAND OUT OF THE MAINE

An Engineer Gives Reasons for the Burial of the Dead Ship in Harbor.

Foremost among the Americans who do not agree with ex-Governor Magoon's scheme for raising the battleship Maine from her bed in the harbor of Havana is Orosco C. Woolson, a civil engineer of New York city, who says the wreck should be transformed into an island park and at half the cost of taking it out to sea.

In a talk with a reporter the other day Mr. Woolson said:

"The wreck of the Maine, which lies in thirty-six feet of water, could be made into an island a thousand feet in diameter at a comparatively small cost which would serve as a memento of the sixty-three sailors whose remains were never recovered and which are believed to be in the wreck. The suggestion made to Governor Magoon to raise the Maine and tow it out to sea comes from those persons who do not realize what the wreck means to all loyal American citizens. The island, properly decorated with roses and palm trees, could be arranged so that people could promenade there and rest on settees while they meditated over the fact of the gallant sailors entombed below.

"If the wreck was raised it is safe to say that the remains of the men would be left below without a grave unless they were fastened in the iron or wood work of the Maine.

"There is plenty of space in the harbor of Havana for all maritime traffic, and the dredging round the wreck to form the island would be of great advantage to the commercial value of the harbor. I know the harbor well, and it is not at all necessary to raise the wreck of the Maine, and no loyal Cuban, I believe, would wish to see it done. It looks like sacrilege to me to disturb the few bones that the sharks have left of the sailors who went down with the Maine. There is no question of the cause of her foundering; that was settled years ago by able experts who were too intelligent to give an unjust verdict even if our country was at war with Spain."

Mr. Woolson has written a letter to Congressman R. Wayne Parker of New Jersey, pointing out his objection to the raising of the wreck of the battleship, and states that neither President Roosevelt nor Governor Magoon has taken into account the sentiment of the American people with regard to the Maine. He asks the congressman to do all he can toward having the wreck in Havana turned into a perpetual monument for those of the crew who were lost, and he said that he intended to bring the question before the Newark board of trade at its next meeting in order to get the support of that influential commercial body.—New York Times.

The reason a man is proud of himself for running for office is he would be ashamed of any of his friends for doing it.

A GOVERNMENT SUIT REACHES SETTLEMENT

Suit To Recover Land from Railway Company.

Washington, March 9.—It has been announced by Secretary Ballinger that the government's suit against the Union Pacific Railway company, involving coal lands in Wyoming valued at $10,000,000, was settled out of court last week by former Attorney General Bonaparte and former Secretary Garfield. The suit was for the recovery from the company of 1,560 acres. The land had been acquired through what are known as "dummy" entries.

Besides reconveying the lands and paying trespass damage, the company loses $91,200 which was paid into the treasury as a purchase price for this land.

FANCY CARS FOR THE SENATORS

Solons Press a Button and Electricity Does the Rest.

Washington, March 9.—Senators will no longer have to hang on to straps or listen to the raucous orders of "Move forward, please," in going from the capitol to the new offices for the senators. The electric subway just installed begins running cars Monday—cars that cost $5,000 apiece—that carry only ten persons and that do not permit of any crowding. The senators have merely to touch a button, enter an elevator, and find a car waiting for them on the subway, which will whisk them to the other end of the line in two minutes.

MURPHY LOSES SUIT IN SUPREME COURT

Mrs. Alice Goodman Gets Judgment for $250.

RESULT OF SELLING BEER TO HUSBAND

Mrs. Goodman Warns Liquor Dealers Not To Sell to Her Husband—Murphy Ignores the Notice and Is Sued for Damages—End of a Long Fight Through the Courts.

For selling Frank Goodman a glass of beer more than six years ago, William P. Murphy must pay to Mrs. Alice Goodman, the beer drinker's wife, damages amounting to $250, and must also pay the costs in a long-fought battle in the courts. Tuesday, the supreme court affirmed the decision of the Marion circuit court.

October 19, 1903, Mrs. Goodman, through her attorney, H Edmund Hill, brought an action in the common pleas court against Murphy seeking judgment for $3,000 damages. Murphy, at that time a West End saloonkeeper, she alleged sold her husband a glass of beer that started him on a long spree, which ended in the loss of his job and his neglect of his family.

In her petition, Mrs. Goodman said that July 13, 1902, she filed with the city clerk a notice to all liquor dealers of the city, warning them not to sell to her husband, the notice being served the following day. Murphy ignored the notice.

A jury in the common pleas court returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, giving her damages of over $500. The circuit court held that Mrs. Goodman had been damaged, but that the amount of damages awarded her were excessive and ordered a remitter, which trimmed the damages to $250.

The case was then taken to the supreme court, which decided in favor of the plaintiff.

Goodman, who is a contractor, is now living with his wife and family at Delaware.

MUNDJI BEY IS A TERRIBLE TURK

Some Accusations Made by Fellow Countrymen.

Washington, March 9.—Mundji Bey, the Ottoman consul in New York, is the "terrible Turk" of this country, if all the charges that have been made against him by his fellow countrymen are sustained. Kaiseim Bey, the Turkish ambassador, is considering a lengthy petition which has been filed with him demanding the removal of the consul. He said that within a few days he will send a representative to New York to investigate the charges. "These include "insolent arrogance, intolerable insults and continued grafting."

The petition bears the signatures of many thousands of Syrians, Armenians and Greek merchants and professional men. They are said to represent 300,000 subjects or former subjects of the Turkish empire.

Mundji Bey is charged with having imposed upon the ignorance of his countrymen by overcharging them for his official signature to passports and other official documents, and with insolent treatment of those compelled to deal with him

SECRETARY KNOX TO HOLD RECEPTION

Will Receive Heads of Diplomatic Missions.

Washington, March 9 Secretary Knox will hold a formal reception to the heads of the diplomatic missions on Wednesday, the first official function of his administration The affair will mark the revival of the traditional observance, upon the inception of a new administration. It was not followed by Secretary Root or Secretary Hay.

Later in the week the heads of the missions will be received by President Taft at the White House.

Change in Position.

H. E. Buck, general manager of the Delaware & Magnetic Springs Railway company, has resigned, his resignation to take effect, April 1. Mr. Buck is well known in this city

The management of the road will pass into the hands of Charles Fifer, of Pittsburg, a railroad man of much experience Mr. Buck will still retain his relationship with the road, however, by becoming secretary. Since he took charge the road's receipts have been greatly increased.

WILLIS DELONG FINDS KATYDID

Insect Is on Exhibition in a Store Window.

"You tell the people that Mt. Gilead hasn't anything on us," said Willis DeLong, a clerk in the grocery store of Harry O. Scribner, on south Main street, Monday, and he pointed to a katydid, which he had found behind a desk and placed on exhibition in the front window. The "aboreal, green, long-horned locustid insect," was a big fellow and as lively as he is in the long, hot days of summer.

"That's a sure sign of spring," continued Mr. DeLong, who seemed as proud of his "find" as must have felt the Morrow county farmer, who plowed up a colony of grasshoppers in January.

TOUCHING TRIBUTE TO MISS ALICE TERPANY

Child's Spirit Passes While Show Is in Progress.

Audience Dismissed and Lights Turned Out Before the Patrons Learn That the Cheery Voice of the Little Ticket-Seller Is Hushed in Death.

The following story of the death of Miss Alice Terpany, of this city, is taken from the Times-Tribune, at Waterloo, Iowa:

While a big audience viewed the mock scenes on the moving pictures at Dreamland last night, little Alice Terpany, the sister of Mrs. J. L. McClinton, wife of the owner of the theater, passed away. The film was run through, the audience filed out, and the theater lights were turned out and the doors closed. Five minutes later an ambulance backed up in front of the theater and all that was mortal of the little girl was carried out and taken to the undertaker's room. The audience gathered on the sidewalk outside, watched the somber proceedings curiously and with awe. The contrast was so vivid.

Many of the patrons of the theater remember the bright-haired, sweet-faced child who took the tickets. Her great blue eyes were always dancing and she had a kind word for all. She came here to live with her sister some two months ago and since that time became a familiar figure to the audiences who have attended the place of amusement.

Tuesday she took sick and from that time on became worse Her sister was at her side constantly Beneath the audiences came and went, but they missed the bright-eyed little girl with the golden hair, who was then lying on her death bed upstairs.

Nobody knew except the attendants that she was ill. Nobody knew in the audience last night that her sweet young spirit had winged its flight to its Maker. No one knew of the agony in the hearts of the attendants as they watched the flickering films dance the story on the canvas and heard the mirth from the audience

Then the bright and glittering lights were turned out and they were alone with their dead.

The body was taken to O'Keefe & Towne's undertaking parlors and this morning was removed to the old home in Ohio for burial Mrs. McClinton, sister of the deceased, accompanied the body

The cause of Miss Terpany's death was heart failure, she having been a sufferer from this ailment for many years

MUST SERVE TERMS IN SING SING PRISON

Two Prominent Men Are Sentenced Monday.

New York, March 9 Colonel Edward E Britton, prominent for many years in national guard circles in this state and Frederick H Schroeder, a Brooklyn banker and financier were yesterday sentenced to terms in Sing Sing prison by Supreme Court Justice Jaycox Both were given indeterminate sentences Britton not less than fourteen months and not more than four and one-half years, and Schroeder not less than one year and not more than four and one-half years.

The two men were officials of the Eagle Savings and Loan association of Brooklyn, and borrowed the concern's funds to bolster up mining deals in the Homestead mines in South Dakota, replacing the cash with worthless checks which were carried as cash in the quarterly reports of the company.

Some climb into the church band wagon principally to escape the collection.

THE RELIGION OF THE HELPING HAND.

By William T. Ellis.

The International Sunday-School Lesson for March 14 Is, "Eneas and Dorcas." Acts 9:31-43.

* * *

Here we have a story without a villain. Everybody acts handsomely and helpfully. The background is peace and progress, in the forefront are men and women seen at their best. There has been turmoil and excitement in most of the past ten lessons; dramatic incidents have at no time been lacking. Now the quarter closes with a peaceful, quiet, constructive lesson, comprising the two incidents, of the healing of Eneas, who had been palsied for eight years, and the raising to life, also by Peter of Dorcas, the woman who was "full of good works and almsdeeds which she did."

The lesson of the lesson is twofold, and it lies on the surface: The gospel of Jesus is attested by its power of transform feebleness into strength and death into life; and the religion of the helping hand is the immemorial result of accepting Christ as Lord. These two teachings are for today. In other fashion, but none the less truly, the gospel is at the present time lifting up the broken in body and spirit, and sending them, erect and rejoicing, as witnesses to the supernatural power which still resides in Christianity.

When Cities Are Stirred.

The cities of Richmond and Boston have lately been stirred to their depths by the Chapman evangelistic meetings. Especially in the conservative old New England city has the impression been profound. Thousands of persons clamored in vain for admittance to gospel meetings already overcrowded. Men and women in all walks of life publicly confessed that they had been made new creatures by this old-fashioned gospel. To them, and to their friends, it seemed as if they had passed from death unto life.

How the city's many tongues wagged over these wonders of conversion. Even so the talk ran at Lydda, where Peter healed the paralytic, and at Joppa, where he restored life to Dorcas. These events were "signs" —miracles—attestations of the divine power which inheres in Christianity. Made-over men and women are the final and refutable argument for the gospel. The devil is less concerned over the books of Christian apologetics than he is over the converted sinners who testify to the power that made them whole again. This is the sort of thing that sets a community by the ears and turns men's hearts to their Maker. The company of witnesses of which Eneas and Dorcas were early members has been a steadily increasing one ever since.

The Healing Church.

Dr. Robert A. Hume, of India, calls himself a "Maker and mender of men and boys, by the power of the Lord Jesus." In other words, he is a missionary. As I one day rode in a tonga through the city of Ahmednagar with him, being greeted on every hand by natives of all ranks, I realized that his great work has been done, not by the books he has written, or by the sermons he has preached in his Oriental church, but by his being a friendly, helpful neighbor in the ordinary relationship of life. He is touching his little speck of India with the helping, healing touch of Jesus. I am satisfied to accept him, and ten thousand men and women like him, as being in the apostolic succession because he displays an apostolic character and does apostolic deeds Simon Peter, on his missionary tour, would have found many a modern missionary a congenial companion.

The conception of ministry which the early church held so strongly is again taking strong hold of the mind of the church of today. The Emmanuel movement, and various modifications thereof, is permeating all denominations and all sections of the country. The ministry is stressing wholeness as well as holiness. Jesus the healer, is looming large in the Christian thought of our day. Of course this fascinating theme often evokes ill-balanced views, and it is fraught with peril to the merely emotional and superficial. None the less, through the science of medicine and the practice of faith, the church may do for the afflicted what Peter did for Eneas. The medical missions which are centers of light and healing all over the non-Christian world are an immeasurable expression of the gospel's power.

A Woman's Career.

The name of Dorcas has been adopted by thousands of organizations of helpful women. Her example is a good one to meditate upon in this day when there is such widespread discussion of woman's sphere. Some of us are uneasy as we see that woman is made the commonest "problem" of the novel, the play, the essay, and the lecture. The sign is not a wholesome one. For when men begin to regard women as a curious and complex social enigma, and try to analyize and dissect her, they cease to pay her the old-fashioned deference which we like to regard as her unquestioned right. The less woman is considered as a "question" the surer she will be to fulfill her natural destiny. If this Sunday-school lesson leads older students to recall and reassert, the primary place of woman in the social organization it will have done a service entirely germane to its original purpose.

Old-fashioned indeed was Dorcas. She had no other thought of a career for herself than to be helpful up to the limit of her powers. She was not a famous "church-worker," nor had she the gift of prophecy. Her office was the simple, lowly one of helping the needy in humble, womanly ways. Nobody called her a "genius," but the poor blessed her upon every remembrance of her name. She could not teach to edification, perhaps, but she could demonstrate her faith by her works. Many were the new babies whose first wardrobes came from her deft fingers. And even the praiseful lips of the friends who gathered about her bier could not call the roll of all the sick and aged and poor whom she has clothed. All the while, doubtless, Dorcas looked with admiration upon such "superior" women as Mary of Bethany. Little did she dream that her swift needle was stitching her own name in letters of fadeless gold upon the world's brief roll of immortals.

Solvers of the Social Problem.

Echoing in the wailing of those eastern women gathered about the bier of Dorcas—I have heard that weird sound more than once, and never want to hear it again—is one solution of the social problem. These weeping friends seem not to have been professional mourners. Their grief sounds too sincere for that. A good neighbor and friend had died. And the world cannot be restrained from rewarding its helpers, whether it be a humble Charleston negro, whose funeral was attended by a multitude of whites and black; an unchronicled East Side rabbi, who afforded New York one of its largest funeral processions; New Orleans "Margaret;" or France's Pasteur, voted first place, well above Napoleon, on his nation's roll of honor.

"God gives us all some small, sweet way,
To set the world rejoicing," and it is by the fulfillment of this opportunity that the unbrotherliness of the world, which creates all our social problems, is to be ameliorated. No method is simpler than this, none more profound. When high and low become Dorcases, not forgetting to be kind, the long-sought social remedy will have been found.

For the sake of this Dorcas there were swift feet to run to the Apostle Peter for help. Possibly nobody's thought extended beyond having the apostle to speak at the funeral. He came swiftly, for he, like Dorcas, and like his Master, lived only to be helpful. Come to the house of mourning, he followed the example of Jesus in a similar case, and, putting forth all the noisy mourners, he knelt to entreat of God this sister's life. Then, assured that the miracle would be wrought, he turned to the silent corpse and tenderly repeated the beautiful name, "Gazelle." Dorcas straightway opened her eyes, sat up, was given Peter's hand in assistance and arose and was presented to her astonished friends. One more "sign" had been wrought to accredit the Name; and the number of believers multiplied.

Even a good cook sometimes makes a mess of it.

A doctor's pills may cure some ills, but not ill humor.

AGED SCIENTIST AND EXPLORER WHO ARE COMPANIONS IN TRIP THROUGH GRAND CANYON.

John Burroughs, the famous naturalist, has joined John Muir, the California explorer and forestry authority, for a journey through the Grand Canyon of the Colorado. For more than forty years Mr. Burroughs, who is now seventy two years old, has been planning to make the trip. His last journey into the west was with President Roosevelt on the celebrated trip through the Yellowstone park. Previous to that he was one of the scientist members of the Harriman exploration expedition to Alaska, on which occasion his constant companion was John Muir, the aged explorer, who became acquainted with the west when it was a mysterious land of wonders.

MILNER STATES THE COMPLAINT IS JUST

Pleads Guilty To Stealing Chest of Tools.

SENTENCE RESERVED BY MAYOR SCHERFF

The Police Make Another Waterhaul in Raiding the Business Place of Al Korte—An Old Cistern Is Supposed Storage Place for Liquor—Is Found Empty and Dusty.

Chief Cornwell received word at noon, Monday, that E. B. Milner was under arrest at Mt. Vernon on a warrant sent from the local police department. Milner is wanted here on a charge of stealing a box of carpenters' tools from John Hay, October 18, 1907. Milner went from this city to Quaker City, where his parents reside. The officers of Quaker City, for some unknown reason refused to arrest Milner and the local police authorities lost track of him.

The captain of the detective force of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad had occasion to search Milner's house recently and found the tools. He made inquiries from the officers of Milner's town, and from them learned that they had been stolen from here. He then informed Chief Cornwell and said that Milner could be found at Mt. Vernon. The warrant for his arrest was sent there and he was arrested, Monday morning. Chief Cornwell went to Mt. Vernon that afternoon to bring the prisoner to this city to answer to the charge.

E B. Milner, who was arrested at Mt. Vernon, Monday, for the local police department, was brought here, Tuesday morning, by Chief Cornwell. Milner is charged with having stolen a chest of tools from John Hay, in October, 1907. When taken in charge by Chief Cornwell, Milner denied having stolen the tools, claiming he bought them.

When arraigned before the mayor, Milner pleaded guilty to the larceny charge. Sentence was withheld pending the arrival of the tools. Had Milner pleaded not guilty to the charge against him, he would have been held to answer a charge of forgery. Hay had stored the tools at the Susquehanna silk mills and in order to secure possession of them Milner is alleged to have written an order and signed Hay's name.

The mayor and police officers have come to the conclusion that the reports of a large amount of bootlegging, in the city are simply due to the hectic imagination of a number of people. As the result of a tip given the officers that Al Korte, who conducts a temperance bar and restaurant on Hoyle street, was selling intoxicating liquors, Captain Bond had a search warrant issued and with Officers Bell, Slagle and Babcock visited Korte's place, Monday evening.

Every box, closet and place where liquor would be liable to be concealed under these circumstances was searched, but nothing sought by the officers was found and there was not the least evidence that Korte was selling intoxicants. The tip given to the officers was that Korte had a quantity of beer hidden in an old cistern. This cistern was uncovered and from the dust and cobwebs it was plain that the cistern has not been uncovered for a long period.

Because of some cases now in progress in the common pleas court, the two cases against the brewery representatives, who are charged with selling beer in dry territory, have been postponed one week. One case will be heard, March 17, and the other on the day following

MONEY TO INCREASE SUBWAY FACILITIES

President Shonts Talks of a Big Improvement.

New York, March 9.—President Theodore P. Shonts, of the Interborough-Metropolitan company, has announced to the public service commission that his company was preparing to spend $50,000,000 in increasing its subway facilities in New York. The statement was made in arguing against the grant of a franchise to the Hudson and Manhattan railroad company for a subway from Thirty-Third street and Sixth avenue to the Grand Central depot.

Shonts said that the Interborough company was not opposed to any move that would benefit the traffic facilities of the city but he contended that the company was prepared to make enlargements in its system that would meet the requirements of the city for at least the next twelve years.

FOREST LOSES THE FINDLAY-MARION

Town Is Unable To Raise the Required Amount.

The route of the Marion-Findlay line has been changed, because citizens of Forest could raise only $5,000 of the $25,000 guaranty bonds assessed them The town will be cut off the proposed route, and Wharton and Kirby, in Wyandot county, will be included instead This will make the mileage only a little longer. Work on the construction of the line will begin next month.

FROM THIS WORLD INTO LIFE ETERNAL

An Aged and Esteemed Woman of Marion Passes,

WHILE THE DAY IS YET YOUNG

Elenora B Fisher's Life Is Remarkable for Its Long Association with This Community and for Its Charity in the Full, Best Significance of the Word

In the early morning hours of March the 6th Elenora B Fisher at the ripe age of more than eighty seven years of loving activity passed from this world into the eternal life Born in Delaware county Ohio on the 17th of July 1821 she came to Marion at the age of seven with her parents Sanford S and Almira Bennet and resided in this place longer than any other citizen Her life was remarkable however not so much for its long association with the community as for its charity in all the full best significance of this word Just a few days ago a prominent citizen who had known her all his life made the statement that she had done more good and was loved by more people than any other woman who had ever lived in Marion On the 17th day of May 1832 she was confirmed by Bishop McIlvaine in St Paul's Episcopal church and was a type of Christianity most worthy of imitation

She was married in March, 1840 to Dr Timothy B Fisher who died in October 1859 Her three sons James Bruen Fisher William Bennett Fisher and Charles Clement Fisher survive her and were all present during the last days

The funeral services were held at her late residence No 129 north Prospect street at 2 o'clock Monday the 8th In compliance with her wishes often expressed these services will be as simple and quiet as possible and friends are requested not to send flowers

A SPEEDING RUMOR IS FULLY VERIFIED

Merger Negotiations Are Now in Progress

A COMBINATION OF TRACTION INTERESTS

A Plan To Merge the C D & M with Toledo, Bowling Green & Southern A New Line Is a Possibility If the Merger Proves a Success—Speculation is to Matter

General Manager George F Whysall of the Columbus Delaware & Marion Railway company has verified a rumor to the effect that negotiations are pending to merge the C D & M with the Toledo Bowling Green & Southern Railway company He was unable to give additional information further than to say that such a move was being considered

According to a statement given out by President F P Kerper of the Toledo road the merger cannot be definitely accomplished until the receivership of his line is settled

The plan if the roads are merged is to build a line from Findlay to Marion by way of Kenton or Upper Sandusky The Upper Sandusky end is favored for obvious reasons by President John G Webb of the C D & M but the other interests prefer the Kenton route as it would take in they claim a more thickly settled territory

With the Findlay Marion line running through Scott Town to Findlay already projected interurban officials say that the building of a line from Kenton to Marion will make this city one of the most important interurban centers in this section of Ohio

The Beringer Divorce Suit Is Dismissed Saturday

MARY E FARRELL SUES TO RECOVER

Buys Lot of John and Emma Herr and Finds Taxes Are Not Paid—Judge Thomas Beer of Bucyrus Takes Evidence in a Local Matter—Notes Gathered in Court

The divorce action of [illegible] Beringer against [illegible] Beringer has been dismissed. The couple have been reconciled.

Mary Elizabeth Farrell through Attorney Harry N Quigley brought an action in the common pleas court Saturday against John Herr and Emma Herr to recover judgment for $10[illegible]. The plaintiff says she bought a lot of the defendants in the Fairview addition with the understanding that it was free from all incumbrances. Later she discovered it had been sold for taxes and that to redeem it she had to pay the amount sued for.

Evidence in the case of Henry Seiter against the Marion Manufacturing company and others was taken before Judge Thomas Beer of Bucyrus in the court room Friday evening. Judge Beer is a special master commissioner appointed by Judge Daniel Babst to hear further evidence.

The suit of William T Heath against Anna W [illegible] and others to marshal liens has been settled out of court.

The answer of the defendant in the suit of James [illegible] and others against Stephen Nowak setting up a general denial was filed by Attorney Harry N Quigley Saturday afternoon in the common pleas court.

A suit to partition an estate of seventy-nine acres in Green Camp township was filed in the common pleas court March [illegible] by Attorneys Crissinger & Guthery. George Ruth is the plaintiff and Emma [illegible]lin and others defendants.

A report placing the total valuation at $24 1[illegible]2 56 was filed in the common pleas court Monday afternoon by R Horn, J C Poppleton and N E Arnold who were appointed to appraise the property of the Mirror Publishing company as a result of the receivership proceedings brought by A T Chapman. The company's property is appraised as follows:

Personalty $10 280 61, book accounts daily and weekly subscription accounts $7 571 9[illegible], subscription lists advertising contracts good will etc $1 000; total valuation $2[illegible]1 [illegible]56

A statement of liabilities filed by Receiver F Wilbur Jacoby is as follows:

Ledger accounts payable February 16 1909 $21 199 18, preferred stock outstanding $10 100, accumulated dividends $2 780; total liabilities $[illegible]79 16

CITY IN BRIEF

Festival Observed—The festival of Purim was appropriately observed by the Jewish residents of Marion. The observance began Saturday evening and continued until Sunday evening, commemorating the rescue of the Jews by Mordecai as recorded in the book of Esther. Services were held by the Congregation of Israel.

Horse Is Injured—A horse hitched to one of the H Schaffner company's wagons stepped into a hole in [illegible] street Sunday evening and sustained a severe sprain to one of its legs. The [illegible] George Baum superintendent of streets and sewers was notified and the dangerous place was repaired Monday morning.

Lease Secured—A clothing and tailoring concern has secured a lease on the Kling room on south Main street which is to be vacated April 1 by Ringer & Jennings. The renters of the room expect to open a first class merchant tailoring shop about the middle of April. D B Goodsell has secured a lease of the Kling room on north Main street which is to be vacated by the Eller company April 1.

Changes in Location—April 1 the law firm of Copeland & Buttram will move into the rooms now occupied by George W McKinley on the second floor of the Bennett block. Copeland & Buttram will also occupy the room in the rear of the McKinley suite formerly occupied by Martin L Parke and Attorney William P Moloney. Mr McKinley will move his offices to the second floor of the Masonic block on east Center street occupying a part of the suite of Dr Walter Withoft. The rooms now occupied by Copeland & Buttram have not been leased.

Residence of William Tanner Is Burned to Ground

THE FAMILY BARELY ESCAPES WITH LIVES

H A Spicer Leases the Richwood Opera House for a Season—The Carpe Diem Club Members Meet at the Stevenson Home and Enjoy a Pleasing Program—Notes

Richwood March 8—[Special]—The dwelling of Mr and Mrs William Tanner of Beems addition was totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Mr and Mrs Tanner and their two children aged six and three years respectively retired as usual. A little after midnight the younger child awoke and called for a drink. The father and mother awoke only to find the house filled with smoke and the flames rapidly spreading to the room where they slept. Mr Tanner was barely able to secure his clothing and after assisting his wife and children to the open air he found that he could not again enter the house on account of the flames. Consequently Mr Tanner and the children did not even save their clothing. They were taken to the home of the husband's parents Mr and Mrs John Tanner who live on the same street. The household goods were insured for $[illegible]00 which will only partially cover the loss. The house was owned by Samuel Livingston, was worth about $800 and was insured for $[illegible]00. The night being windy the house was almost destroyed before the arrival of the fire department.

STANDARD OIL WINS VICTORY

Verdict of Acquittal Returned in Chicago

UPON THE ORDER OF THE COURT

Government, as Result of Ruling, Rests Case

Whereupon the Attorneys of the Oil Octopus Ask That Judge Anderson Instruct the Jury To Bring in an Acquittal Verdict—The Court So Instructs the Jury, and the Jury Follows Order

Chicago March 10—The second trial of the famous $29 240 000 Standard Oil case, became history at noon today, and the government suffered an ignominious defeat when the jury acting under the explicit instructions of Judge Anderson, returned a verdict of not guilty

The verdict not only wipes out completely the fine of $29 240 000 imposed by Federal Judge K M Landis but lets the Standard Oil Company of Indiana off scot free

In addition all the other pending indictments against the Standard Oil company will probably be immediately quashed

The result of the case is regarded as the heaviest blow yet sustained by the government in its anti trust prosecutions and it is expected that it will tend to discourage future prosecutions if it does not absolutely prevent future convictions under the laws against combinations

Further than that it is believed that the case has been a heavy blow to the effectiveness of the Elkins law as a preventative of rebating

Sweeping Decision

Assistant United States Attorney Wilkerson who conducted the government's case opened today's session with an argument to convince the court that Alton tariff No 24 and the Illinois classification when taken in conjunction proved the government's case

The court interrupted this argument to rule out all of the counts of the indictment against the defendant company which referred to the oil shipments from Chappelle Illinois to St Louis This wiped out more than half of the counts in the indictment and Assistant United States District Attorney Wilkerson immediately asked the court to state specifically whether he regarded the evidence already within the court's knowledge as insufficient to convict The court replied that it was and Wilkerson said

In that case the government might as well rest its case as it has no further evidence

On motion of counsel for the defense the court then instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty which it did

Instructions to Jury

In instructing the jury the court said The government has failed to establish its case It is urged that a rate of eighteen cents had been established in oil by the Chicago & Alton railroad whereas the proof showed that the rate was 18½ cents

The two principal bits of evidence the government relied upon to make its case were tariff No 24 and the Illinois classification Neither one of these contained the statutory requirements for publication of an eighteen cent rate

The indictment charged the defendant with deviation from a standard or rates fixed by a common carrier under the law The judgment of this court is that there was no such fixed standard

The federal statute further requires proof of intent and no such proof has been produced Intent cannot be proved by proving publication of a rate even if publication were proved It is evident however that not even publication has been proved

This court does not believe that the defendant knowingly committed any violation of the law The court was convinced at the outset of the insufficiency of the evidence to show intent and has found nothing since to make him change that view

"In reference to the counts in the indictment referring to oil shipment from Chappelle Illinois here was a fatal variance between the indictment and the evidence The statute provides that there can only be two classes of offenses One is an offense by a common carrier in shipping goods over its own lines only the other is in shipping its goods over its own and other lines

Canton O March 10—"Race suicide is the salvation of humanity declares Mrs Sarah K Meredith state recording secretary of the Ohio W C T U

Mrs Meredith's address before the Central Labor Union here last night has divided the city into two camps of discussion Notwithstanding Theodore Roosevelt she declared I am opposed to large families It is all very well to preach against race suicide while riding around in a luxurious private car What we want in children is quality not quantity

Mrs Meredith advocated a pension for bachelors instead of a tax Men who marry and are no fit to bring children into the world are the ones who should be taxed she said

ATTRACTION OF KINDRED SOULS

All That Exists Between Parson and Mrs Lockhart,

ACCORDING TO TALE RELATED BY FORMER

He Simply Receives Visits from His Soul Mate

The Preacher and the Young Wife of Atlanta City Business Man Are Found in the Preacher's Room It Is Alleged They Have Been Living Together, but Under Spiritual Conditions Only Says Parson

Atlanta Ga March 10—Soul mate visits and their complex analysis drew one of the largest crowds ever seen in Atlanta city court today when the Rev Charles Wolferman a graduate of Moody theological seminary of Chicago was arraigned following his arrest for alienating the affection of the pretty young wife of an Atlanta business man

The preacher and Mrs Mott Lockhart were found alone in the former's room They admitted it is alleged having lived together for some time but denied that they had done anything wrong Rev Mr Wolferman explained to the court that under existing spiritual conditions between himself and Mrs Lockhart they are entirely innocent He further elucidated that as she was his proper soul mate or affinity it was proper that they be together

Of course said the preacher there will be a misunderstanding on the part of the public but Mrs Lockhart was paying me one of her usual soul mate visits This is simply a case of attraction of kindred souls

Desirous of further illumination on the subject court held Rev Wolferman for examination

PAYS NO HEED TO GOVERNORS

Ohio Legislature Disregards Their Recommendations.

POLITICS DOES NOT CUT ANY FIGURE

Treats Harmon as Well as His Predecessor

State Treasurer Is Now Making the State a Thousand Dollars a Week by Letting Out the State's Money to Banks by Competitive Bidding but His Successor May Disregard the Practice

Columbus O March 10—Little heed was paid by the general assembly at the special session now over to the recommendations of either Governor Harmon or his predecessor Governor Harris The latter asked for the passage of a bill making mandatory the loaning out of the state fund by competitive bidding but no such law was enacted It is optional with the state treasurer as to whether he loans out the funds in that way The present incumbent of the office has adopted the system and the state is the gainer to the extent of $1 000 a week But without a law for competitive bidding any treasurer may dump the money in any bank he chooses his own included Governor Harmon reiterated his predecessor's request for such a law and in addition asked that the state board of deposit which is supposed to have charge of the loaning out of the funds be changed so that the state bank superintendent would take the place of the auditor of state as a member and that the governor be made a member of the board The house passed a bill providing for these changes but the senate consigned it to the scrap pile

Great Percentage Lost Out

Of the [illegible] bills introduced less than fifty have been passed by both legislative branches Among these are the Dean Crist bill to regulate the sale of liquor and prevent its sale in dry territory the Landon bill providing a prison sentence for illegal sale of cocaine the Calvey bill prohibiting the employment of women where there are dust creating machinery the Mendel [illegible] bill providing for medical inspection of school children and other measures establishing two state school inspectors establishing grand army headquarters at Columbus permitting municipalities to establish free lodging houses to punish telephone employes who reveal messages authorizing school boards to provide for instruction in manual training establishing substations away from the county seat for the payment of taxes creating state armory board of four [illegible] officers and providing for a levy of ten cents [illegible] to create a fund for the [illegible] of armories and the maintenance of the National guard and providing for the quadrennial election of assessors of real estate

Measures Which Fail

Among the measures which failed of passage were the following To repeal the [illegible] law to lengthen the term of county auditors and county clerks to establish two new state normal schools to preserve election ballots six months after election to limit women's working hours to eight hours a day to abolish [illegible] to prohibit the sale of cigarettes to prohibit county officials from lobbying for their salaries to compel the listing of [illegible] property for taxation [illegible] Cincinnati and Cleveland [illegible] direct inheritance tax

GIRL NOT KILLED BY HIGHWAYMAN

Baltimore Youth Admits Murdering Sweetheart

Baltimore Md March 10 Under searching questioning by the police John F Mueller confessed that it was he who shot and killed his sweetheart Miss [illegible] Reed and that there was no truth in the story he told immediately after the shooting to the effect that he and Miss Reed were held up at a lonely spot near Mount Washington by a highwayman who after securing Mueller's money demanded a necklace worn by Miss Reed Mueller originally stated that in response to this demand Miss Reed slapped the highwayman's face and that the latter fired the fatal shot

Mueller declares the shooting to have been entirely accidental His story however is not accepted by the police whose theory is that the killing was premeditated They believe that Mueller wished to break off the engagement with Miss Reed The wedding was set for April 14

POLISH PRIEST ASSASSINATED

In Parish Rectory at Newark, New Jersey

HIS HOUSEKEEPER BADLY WOUNDED

Her Chances for Recovery Are Held Very Slight

The Crimes Are Committed by Three or Four Men Who Call at the Rectory at an Early Hour This Morning and Are Admitted by the Housekeeper—A Number of Suspects Arrested

Newark N J March 10—Rev Erasmus Antone rector of St Stanislaus Polish Catholic church was assassinated in the parish rectory this morning by three or four men The housekeeper of the rectory Miss Antoina Tonisti was also shot The priest died on the way to the hospital in an ambulance The woman will probably die The cause of the shooting has not been learned The man who shot the priest escaped

Rev Father Antone had just come from the church where he had been offering mass when the door bell rang and Miss Tonisti a woman about forty seven years of age responded There was a group of either three or four at the door and they asked to see Father Ansione The priest came down stairs from his room He greeted his visitors and escorted them into the little front parlor of the rectory What happened there is a mystery The first intimation that something was wrong was when the shots were heard

Miss Tonisti rushed into the room and was struck down at the door by a bullet The men rushed over the fallen body of the woman made their way through the front door to Belmont avenue and escaped

No Description of Men

No definite description could be obtained of the men

Miss Tonisti is unable to tell her story of the affair

Four arrests have been made in the shooting of Father Ansione Alexander Serdyckoski a former Newark policeman is among the prisoners He was taken to police headquarters Michael Polnch and a woman Antounia Sewezlyck are also under arrest The name of the other prisoner has not been given out by the police Father Ansione was shot three times through the body At St Barnabas hospital at noon it was stated that Miss Tonisti has only a slight chance for recovery She was shot twice through the body

The dead priest came here from Paterson New Jersey three months ago He was assistant rector at St Stephen's Catholic church Paterson About a year ago there was trouble among the parishioners of St Stephen's but it is declared that Father Anstone had no part in the existing differences between the two factions

St Stanislaus church here is on Belmont avenue It is the largest Polish Catholic parish in New Jersey and has a parochial school attended by more than 700 Polish Americans The rectory adjoins the church

SUPPLEMENTAL RULING MADE

In the Stirling Divorce Matter Today.

Edinburg, March 11.—Lord Judge Guthrie today issued a supplemental ruling in the Stirling divorce case. He ordered that Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Taylor Stirling shall have reasonable access to the child, who was yesterday given into the custody of the father, John Alexander Stirling. The judge also ruled that Stirling must pay his wife's expenses in the suit but that Lord Northland, who was named by Stirling as corespondent in the case against his wife, must pay the expenses of the wronged husband.

Mrs. Stirling announced today that she would carry the case to the highest court—in this case the house of lords. It must first, however, be taken to the higher Scotch court, and this appeal will not be heard before April at the earliest, and perhaps not before next November.

LIQUOR TAX FIGURES COMPILED BY AUDITOR

Facts Gathered as to the January Collection.

WORK FINISHED BY THE STATE AUDITOR

The Decrease in Revenues for the State and Locally as Result of Dry Measures—A Decrease in the Number of Saloons in Five of Large Cities of the State.

Columbus, March 11.—The decrease in number of saloons in Ohio from January 1908 to January 1909—a total of 2,407—means a big loss in Ohio's income.

The compilation of the settlement of the liquor tax by Auditor of State E. M. Fullington, on the January collection, completed Wednesday makes this showing:

The January, 1909, collection amounted to $3,418,603.70, as against $1,600,659.41, collected in the previous January. The state's share of the Aiken tax dropped in the year from $1,381,060 in 1908 to $1,026,415 in 1909, while local revenues decreased from $3,219.559 in 1908 to $2,392,188 in 1909.

There was a decrease in the number of saloons in all five of the counties with large cities, as follows:

Cuyahoga from 2,078 in 1908 to 1,967 in 1909; Hamilton from 1,756 to 1,692; Lucas from 607 to 604; Franklin from 532 to 498; Montgomery from 380 to 326.

CITY IN BRIEF.

A New Bakery—Miller McKibben and William McClain have leased the room formerly occupied by the Bauslnger bakery, No. 201 south Main street, and, Friday, will open an up-to-date bakery and catering establishment. The new firm will be known under the name of McKibben & McClain

Will Open Garage—G. E. Abel & Company have secured a lease on the Uhler barn at the rear of the Pilgrim Inn and will open a garage some time next week. Mr. Abel has been identified with the Mora Auto company, of New York, and the E. R. Thomas company, of Buffalo. The new company will handle the Mitchell cars and will make a specialty of repair work.

Shed Destroyed—While playing with matches in a shed at the rear of his home, the four-year-old son of Joseph Orians, of west Center street, set fire to the shed, shortly before 4 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. The fire department was called, but the shed was almost consumed when the department arrived. The loss will amount to about $30. The shed was used as a storage place.

Many Horses Sold—The regular Monnette horse sale, held Wednesday at the Cox & Thornton barn on north Main street, was attended by a large number of buyers, including representatives from several of the large city markets. Nearly seventy head were sold and brought good prices. E. S. McNabb, of Ashland, was the auctioneer.

Many ladies are going to put off going to Marion until Monday so that they can visit the fine new Uhler-Phillips store the first day it will be open.

Uhler-Phillips will resume business in their handsome new store Monday.

TWO-CENT TAX STAMP ON ALL BANK CHECKS

Senate Will See That Provision Is Made.

IMPORTATION OF PHILIPPINE SUGAR

Concession Will Be Made the Sugar and Tobacco Interests of the Philippines—The Tax on Beer Is To Be Increased Fifty Cents a Barrel. Additional Revenue Wanted.

Washington, March 11.—If the new tariff bill, being prepared by the house, does not provide for a two-cent tax stamp on bank checks, it is learned that a provision to this effect will be added by the senate.

The duty on lead is cut in the new bill fifty per cent.

Provision will be made for the importation every year of 350,000 tons of Philippine sugar free of duty. A similar concession will be made to the tobacco interests of the island.

The last printed draft of the bill left coffee free, but it is yet possible that the committee may find it necessary to put a tax on this article in order to raise revenues.

The sentiment of the committee is against this, however, and it will be avoided if possible.

It is reported on good authority that the tax on beer is to be increased fifty cents per barrel. From this, the committee expects to raise $16,000,000 additional revenue. It is also stated that zinc is to be taxed 1¾ cents a pound.

An Ohio Republican congressman is strong in his declaration that unless the $1 rate is cut out, and lumber placed on the free list, he and dozens of his associates will fight to the finish.

Many ladies are going to put off going to Marion until Monday so that they can visit the fine new Uhler-Phillips store the first day it will be open.

Uhler-Phillips will resume business in their handsome new store Monday.

FORMER MARION MAN REVIEWS PAST SCENES

J. A. Ulsh Writes Letter and Extends Invitation.

IS ANXIOUS TO MEET OLD MARION FRIENDS

Is the Left Fielder of the Marion Stars in the Days of Long Ago. Mr. Ulsh Is Serving Second Term in the Washington Legislature. Known as "Good Roads" Ulsh.

The Star is in receipt of a letter from J. A. Ulsh, a former resident of Marion, who is now located at Kosmos, Washington. In his letter Mr. Ulsh states that it has been thirty-five years since he left Marion and although he, like the city of Marion and the people here, has changed much since that time, it seems as though it was but yesterday since he played ball on the green with the Marion Stars.

The older residents and baseball fans of thirty-five years ago will well remember Mr. Ulsh as being the hard-hitting left fielder of the Stars, of which team there are a number now residing here. Mr. Ulsh was better known as "Al" and resided in the country, but came to Marion to attend school. He first belonged to the baseball team known as the Wildcat club, which was composed mostly of players who resided in the vicinity just below the cemetery. Mr. Ulsh is now serving his second term in the Washington legislature, and being a leader and principal worker in the Good Roads association, is commonly known as "Good Roads" Ulsh.

Mr. Ulsh is desirous of meeting all his friends, and states that he would be glad to welcome any one from Marion and have them as his guests at the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific fair to live the past years over again.

A LARGE COMPANY IS NICELY ENTERTAINED

The Annual Purim Ball Is Given in Huber Hall.

The annual Purim mask ball was held by the members of the Jewish congregation in the Huber hall Wednesday evening. About seventy couples were present there being a large number of visitors from Cleveland, Toledo, Columbus, Bucyrus and Richwood. The entertainment afforded by the costumes was one of the features of the evening. Following the grand march, led by Mr. and Mrs. Simon Bornheim, of Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kleinmaier, a pleasing program of dance music was furnished by Dowler's orchestra. During an intermission, lunch was served.

The committee in charge of the entertainment was composed of B. E. Kleinmaier, M. Hess and H. M. Vogel.

SATURDAY . . . . MARCH 13

"The Columbus Dispatch says there is "a flavor of maple sap in the sunshine of the crisp March morning." From which, it may be seen that there should be no difficulty in telling the difference between March sunshine and some of the maple syrup you get at the store.

Professor Starr says Mr. Roosevelt will never survive the African fever. If Mr. Roosevelt succeeds in showing up Professor Starr, even congress would be half inclined to forgive the "Strenuous One" half his imputed sins of the past.

Possibly that Medina jury imagined that it is necessary for a murderer to plan his crime for a year or two to make it come under the head of premeditated.

It will probably be some time before the people residing in the vicinity of the White House will become sufficiently accustomed to the quiet that it will not keep them awake

"I note that some of the 'insurgents' in the lower house of congress are preparing to take 'Uncle Joe' Cannon's scalp," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "but it's more than probable that when 'Uncle Joe' lets go of his hair it will be to Time only."

In view of recent decisions, it's hard to see what ground the corporations have for finding fault with the courts.

The Ohio State Journal, which of late has manifested a tendency to look upon the bright side of life, points out that we never hear of any collisions of boats on the Ohio canals.

The coming session of congress, for certain reasons, should be much less embarrassing to Nick Longworth than the one lately closed.

Herbert Bigelow says he became a champion of the initiative and referendum idea through "love for Tom L. Johnson." Looks like a case of misplaced love.

Although we have but one living ex-president, he will probably make a noise like about three of the ordinary variety.

"As to the issuance of injunctions," said Mr. Taft in his inaugural address, "my convictions are fixed. Take away the power of courts to issue injunctions in labor disputes and you create a privileged class among laborers and save the lawless among them from a most needful remedy available to all men for the protection of their business against lawless invasion. * * * The secondary boycott is an instrument of tyranny and ought not to be made legitimate." It's mighty hard to see where Mr. Gompers will get any consolation out of that utterance.

There is no truth in the report that congress has arranged with the Outlook to have Mr. Roosevelt's hunting stories printed in the Congressional Record.

We are inclined to agree with the Connecticut legislature in its opposition to President Taft's scheme for a federal inheritance tax on the ground that this tax should be left to the states as a source of state revenue.

"I should be untrue to myself, to my promises and to the declarations of the party platform on which I was elected," says Mr. Taft, "if I did not make the maintenance and enforcement of my predecessor's reforms a most important feature of my administration." Looks as though there was still trouble ahead for the rich malefactors.

However, Mr. Roosevelt will not miss the little fellows who have been snapping at his heels, there will be hyenas and jackals where he is going.

In Kansas, which has been a prohibition state for many years, the anti-saloon wave does not seem to be receding very fast. The legislature has refused to pass a bill to permit druggists to sell alcohol without a prescription.

By refusing to take part in the congressional scrap over the rules, Mr. Taft has given gratifying evidence that he looks upon the congress as a coordinate branch of the government and not as a bureau of the executive office. If he holds to that view, he will greatly assist his efforts to secure the legislation he wants.

However, it may be possible that we will hear as much about changing the date of the inauguration after the next one

"I don't profess to have a knowledge of the law," observed the restaurant philosopher at luncheon today, "but I can't understand why that jury in the Rasor case ever overlooked the opportunity of finding the defendant guilty of assault and battery."

Senator Jeff Davis went back to his home in Arkansas for the congressional recess, and on the day of his arrival a tornado swept over a portion of the state doing incalculable damage. Of course this may have been a mere coincidence.

The denunciation of Speaker Cannon as a "czar," etc., is piffle. The speaker has only such power as the house gives him by the rules it adopts, and the rules are framed for the orderly transaction. The only right a minority has in any legislative body is the right to vote and to protest and to have its protest properly recorded. The American public has no patience with a policy of obstruction merely.

The celerity with which the senate confirmed the appointment of Mr. Loeb may be taken as its recognition of what it at least conceives to have been long and arduous service.

Former Senator Platt says he is responsible for the making of Roosevelt, but in the same paragraph he admits that he didn't realize what he was doing at the time.

Anyway, no one will dispute that Mr. Fairbanks is a calm and dignified ex-vice president.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT FREE BAPTIST CHURCH

The Services Are Arousing Great Deal of Interest.

REV. G. E. BARNARD DELIVERS AN ADDRESS

The Speaker Talks to Big Audience of Jesus and the Burdens He Helps His Children To Bear—What the Hungry Heart Longs for Christ Stands Ready To Supply.

The revival services, which began at the Free Baptist church on south Main street, Sunday are attracting considerable interest. Wednesday night there were two conversions, and Rev. George E. Barnard, the pastor, states that the protracted services will continue indefinitely. "As long as we can do something for the Lord in the way of results, the services will continue," said Rev. Mr. Barnard, Thursday.

One of the features of the revival is the choir music.

Wednesday night, Rev. Mr. Barnard took his text from John 7 37 "If any man thirsts let him come unto Me and drink." The minister began by saying that Isaiah in the first verse of the fifty-fifth chapter declared practically the same thing as his text, but the fulness of the promise was not realized until Jesus came. Jesus extended an invitation to the weary and heavy-laden to come unto Him and rest, to eat of Him as of the bread of life. His invitation was the invitation of the text. Jesus will satisfy the deepest longings of the heart.

"Wealth is of great advantage, but it cannot satisfy. Many people cannot have wealth, but all may have Jesus and He satisfies the deepest longings as the only lasting wealth. Only a few realize their earthly ambitions, but even then their soul is not satisfied. Many never have their ambitions satisfied, but all may have their highest ambitions satisfied in Christ. A few realize their ambition in many of the pleasures, but these confess that pleasures do not satisfy. The great majority cannot attain the pleasures they crave, but all may find satisfying pleasures in Jesus. Earthly pleasures are brief at best. At God's right hand are pleasures for evermore. Many have no special aims for riches or for fame or for pleasures, they have deep longings of the soul. Jesus can satisfy these longings and no other can. Then come unto Jesus and drink."

Many a man's cowardice has kept has no effect on bill collectors

"Monday next:" the fine new Uhler & Phillips Store will be opened with all fine new goods: Welcome.

We did all within our "might and main" to get opened up by Saturday—but this life is full of disappointments.

But we do hope that our great host of out-of-town customers—who have been waiting for the fine and BIG NEW UHLER-PHILLIPS STORE to resume business—can arrange to come to Marion upon Monday this time, instead of Saturday, as usual.

We'd like to have them among the first to visit "our new business home"—among the first to get their pick of the bright, new merchandise filling the big new departments—among the first to "judge" our efforts to give our customers the best store that was within our power to build.

WELCOME. WELCOME.

Our big "formal opening" will be given Thursday evening and all day Friday & Saturday of next week—March 18 to 20

The Members of Sosnowski Rebekah Lodge Hold a Business Session. Pythians Discuss the Purchase of a New Home—Royal Arch Masons Meet—Secret Order Notes.

At a meeting of the chair officers and the trustees of the Elk lodge, Tuesday evening it was decided to lease the third floor of the Pettit building adjoining the present quarters of the lodge. The rooms will be converted into a billiard hall and card room. The lease for the rooms will expire in three years and a half, the time when the lease expires for the present quarters. At the expiration of the lease the expectations are that the lodge will build a new temple. To this end, the trustees in their annual report will recommend the establishment of a fund to pay off the present debt on the lodge's lot on south State street. This fund will then be continued as a building fund, a large per cent of all initiation fees to be set aside for this purpose.

The present billiard hall of the lodge will be converted into a kitchen, which will be equipped with all the modern implements of the culinary art.

An arch will be cut through the wall in the billiard room. The main hall will remain as it is now. With the additional rooms, the Elks will have among the most handsomely appointed quarters of any lodge in the city.

The esquire rank was conferred on one candidate at a regular meeting of Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias, Tuesday evening.

The matter of purchasing a home for the lodge was discussed, but no definite action taken

The members of Marion Chapter, No. 62, Royal Arch Masons, held a meeting at the Masonic temple, Tuesday evening, and disposed of some matters of business. The mark master's degree was conferred on a class of candidates. The attendance was quite good

At a largely-attended meeting of the Maccabees, Tuesday evening, four candidates were balloted on. After a short business session, an open meeting and entertainment was held

An interesting program was opened with a piano selection by Mrs. B. J. Anthony. Several selections were contributed by the Medley Chorus club, and Miss Dorothy Stose gave a pleasing recitation. After a piano selection by Harold Ward, the Ladies of the Maccabees gave a playlet which was very entertaining.

The program was concluded with a few remarks by E. B. Main, record keeper of the order.

The stag social given by Canby Lodge, No. 51, Knights of Pythias, Wednesday evening, was attended by 100 Knights of Pythias and their friends. It was one of the most enjoyable given this winter. Cards were played until a late hour, when a spaghetti supper was served. Mayor Louis Scherff gave a recitation, and short talks were made by Edward T. Ault, Weston Llewellyn, Harry S. Elliott and John Abel.

A class of candidates was given the degree at a largely-attended meeting of Ithamar Court, No. 8, Tribe of Ben Hur, Wednesday evening. Considerable business of importance was transacted and arrangements were made for the initiation of a class at the next meeting in two weeks. After the business session, a social time was enjoyed and lunch was served.

The Ladies' social given by the Red Men, Wednesday evening, was one of the season's most enjoyable events. A large number of visitors was present. The Red Men's social committee overlooked nothing in the arrangements for the affair. After lunch, dancing was enjoyed

The Ladies of the Maccabees held a largely-attended meeting, Wednesday afternoon. Routine business was transacted. It was decided to hold an all-day session March 24, when the drill team will put in the day practicing

DEATH IS THE RESULT OF LINGERING ILLNESS

Mrs. Edith McWade Dies Near LaRue Tuesday.

IS THE MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN

A Christian Woman and Loving Mother—Mrs. McWade Suffers Several Years Before Death Comes to Her Relief—Arrangements Made for the Funeral Thursday.

LaRue, March 10.—[Special.]—Mrs Edith McWade, widow of the late Samuel McWade, died at her home, three and one-half miles northwest of here, Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. She had been an invalid seven years, being bedfast during the past four months. Her death was caused by a complication of diseases. She was aged sixty-eight years, three months and fourteen days, and was the mother of nine children, seven of whom are left to mourn their loss. She was born in Union county and became a member of the Baptist church when but a girl. Since her marriage she had resided in this county, and for the past twenty-four years had been a member of Otterbein United Brethren church. She was a good Christian woman and a kind and loving mother. Her husband died seven years ago.

The deceased is survived by the following children: Mrs. Martha Treece, of Marion; Mrs. Mary Highland, of Kenton; Mrs. Susan Weist, of near LaRue; Lenora and Jacob McWade, at home; George McWade, of Mt. Victory, and Jay McWade, of South Dakota.

The funeral will be held from the Otterbein church, seven and one-half miles west of here, Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. J. A. Sutton will have charge of the services, assisted by Rev. Mr. Myers, the pastor of Otterbein church.

Many ladies are going to put off going to Marion until Monday so that they can visit the fine new Uhler-Phillips store the first day it will be open.

Uhler-Phillips will resume business in their handsome new store Monday.

CHRISTIAN WOMAN CALLED TO REWARD

Mrs. Catherine Knowles Passes to Eternal Rest.

DIES AT ROBERTS HOME WEDNESDAY

Mrs. Knowles Is One of the Best-Known Women in Marion County. Lives in One House Seventy-One Years—Leaves Two Children—The Funeral Arrangements.

When Mrs. Catherine Knowles died of pneumonia at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Roberts, of south State street, Wednesday about 5 o'clock a. m., one of the best-known and most beloved pioneers of Marion county passed to her spiritual reward. Had she lived until April 3. Mrs. Knowles would have been ninety-one years of age.

For seventy-one years, Mrs. Knowles had lived in one house, which stands on the old farm about three-quarters of a mile south of Kirkpatrick. She was the widow of Hiram Knowles, who died at Kirkpatrick at the age of eighty-four years in 1896. Mr. and Mrs. Knowles had lived together fifty-six years when the former died. To them had been born three children, two of whom—Mrs. Roberts, of this city, and Henry Knowles, of Kirkpatrick—survive. A son, George Knowles, was killed in one of the skirmishes of the Texas Red river expedition during the civil war.

The deceased was one of thirteen children, her father being John Foos, who settled in Delaware county many years ago Mrs. Knowles was born in Radnor township, and came to Marion county with her parents at the age of thirteen years. She has two brothers living. They are John Foos, residing north of Marion, who is now eighty-nine years of age, and a younger brother, D. C. Foos, residing at Spokane, Washington.

Practically all her life Mrs. Knowles had been a member of the Christian church, having united with the church at Kirkpatrick in her girlhood. She was of that high type of Christian character which endeared her to the entire community in which she had lived so long. Whenever any one became ill, there was nobody but "Grandma" Knowles who could do for a nurse. And "Grandma" Knowles was always ready and willing to do all in her power for those who invoked her aid in charitable missions and errands of mercy. She will be sincerely mourned by all those who knew her. She leaves behind, as an everlasting memorial, a monument of good deeds. Her death closes a remarkable career. She had enjoyed good health until this winter. She was rugged in physique as well as in character. During the holidays she came from her home near Kirkpatrick to visit her daughter, Mrs. Roberts. Four weeks ago she contracted pneumonia, and for some time her death had been expected on account of her advanced age. Up almost until the last she was conscious; her mind was clear and her faculties as active seemingly as they ever were. At no time before her death had she become childish, a fact that is regarded as one of the unusual experiences of her unusually long life.

The funeral services were held at the Roberts home, Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Rev. J. S. Bonham, pastor of the Christian church at Kirkpatrick, officiating. Interment took place in the Marion cemetery, to which place the remains of her husband, who is buried at Kirkpatrick, will be moved at some future time.

MRS. ADAM LAUER DIES WEDNESDAY

Death Comes as a Great Shock to Her Friends.

LaRue, March 10.—[Special.]—Mrs. Adam Lauer died at her home, five and one-half miles southeast of here this morning at 11 o'clock. Her death was very sudden she having been ill only since noon Tuesday. Tuesday morning, she was not feeling well but prepared dinner for the family. When her son, Herbert, came to dinner he found her unconscious. Medical aid was summoned but she never regained consciousness. Her death was caused by uraemic poisoning. Had she lived until Monday, she would have been forty-seven years of age.

The deceased leaves a husband and four children to mourn their loss. The children are Mrs. Pearl Augenstein, of Marion; Henry Lauer, of near Green Camp; Herbert and Katherine, at home.

JOSEPH D. BATCH DIES IN TOLEDO

James A. Knapp Receives a Message Tuesday.

James A. Knapp received a telegram, Tuesday afternoon, from Toledo, informing him of the death of his nephew, Joseph D. Batch.

The deceased was employed in this city years ago as a printer. He had been ill for some time. The funeral was held in Toledo, Thursday afternoon.

MRS. MAY GIVENS PLACED ON TRIAL

Is Charged with Bigamy in Crawford County Court.

County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter was called to Bucyrus, Tuesday, as a witness in the case of the State of Ohio against May Givens, who was indicted by the Crawford county grand jury for bigamy.

The Givens woman brought an action for a divorce in this city against James W. Givens, in December, 1904, through Attorneys DeGolley & DeGolley. April 25, 1907, her petition was dismissed after it had been learned by the court that she was married. She pleaded not guilty to a charge of bigamy. According to her attorney, she was informed by a certain Marion law firm that a decree of divorce had been granted her and on the strength of this information was married again to a man in Crawford county.

MRS. EDITH MINOR NOT A RESIDENT

Bill for Her Care at Delaware Is Rejected.

The Marion county infirmary directors have returned from Delaware, where they conferred with the infirmary directors of that county, relative to Mrs. Edith Minor, a patient in a hospital there. The Delaware county infirmary directors forwarded a bill for her treatment to the Marion county board, as it was believed that she was a Marion county resident. She formerly lived here, but it developed that she is now a legal resident of California.

Mrs. Minor was taken to the Jane Case hospital a month ago and is now recovering from an operation.

BAKES BREAD BETWEEN THE LINES OF BATTLE

Experience of Heroic Woman Who Dies Monday.

MRS. HESTER WHITE ON GETTYSBURG FIELD

Sends Her Children from Home on Little Round Top, but Remains To Lend Aid to the Soldiers of the North—Mother of Newton J. White Who Dies at Worthington.

The following clipping from Tuesday's Columbus Press Post, relating to Mrs. Hester White, whose death occurred at Worthington, Monday, will be of interest here from the fact that she was the mother of Newton J. White, of No. 229 north State street, this city:

Mrs. Hester White, who during her life passed through some of the most exciting experiences of any American woman of history, Monday morning at 1 o'clock passed quietly away at her home just south of Worthington, as a result of old age and heart complications.

For the past week Mrs. White had been unable to take any nourishment, and her death was the result of gradual weakening.

She celebrated her eighty-eighth birthday on February 14—St. Valentine's day.

On the Battlefield.

One of the most heroic deeds of the civil war was that accomplished by Mrs White at the battle of Gettysburg. While in her house upon Little Round Top, directly between the fire of the union and confederate armies, she remained and baked bread for the union army, while shot and shell tore through the building.

Her large family of children had been sent away to a point of safety; but the heroic woman, having a large supply of flour on hand, remained alone and, while shot and shell shrieked about the house, continued to do all she could for the army which had her sympathy.

After the battle, the territory for a long ways about Mrs. White's house was covered with the dead and dying, debris of shells and broken firearms and the remains of cannon and other weapons. Her house was turned into a hospital for both armies.

Family Comes North.

When the war was over, her husband, C. J. White, removed with his family to the North, and Mrs. White left forever the scene of her memorable two days' excitement. Until the last days of her life Mrs. White was able to recall, with the most vividness, the details of the great fight which was the crucial battle of the war, and often told her grandchildren, and friends of her personal recollection of how General Meade rode madly up and down the line telling the boys to "Hold the center" of the great eight-mile line.

Mrs. White possessed a remarkable set of photographs of the battlefield, made by a war photographer, who made his headquarters at her home.

During her last years Mrs. White had passed a peaceful existence with her daughters in a little cottage just this side of Worthington, and her death came tranquilly, a fitting end for a life of worth, activity and heroism.

PERRY G. SHOOTS SAYS

LET ME SELL YOU THE NEEDED

FARM IMPLEMENTS and you'll get the best kinds—for least money.

Located on north Main street, between the railroads, in the old Huber shops, I have on display and ready to show a complete stock of the famous

J. I. Case Plows, Planters, Cultivators, Etc. and Walter A. Wood Harvesting Machinery.

Case Plows.

It's a well-known fact that these plows embody more beneficial and labor-saving features than any other made, are light, durable, and I show all kinds for different kinds of work. The Case Gang Plow is the only one that prevents the tugs from touching the horses—the same feature being true of their Sulky and Walking Plows. LET US SHOW YOU.

Case Corn Planters.

The new styles are worth seeing—made to drop 2, 3 or 4 kernels, with a simple touch of lever; no need even to stop the team.

Case Cultivators.

That's where we shine also. Three kinds, each possessing some superior merit, cultivators that are meeting wonderful success everywhere. The price, too, will be worth looking into.

Wood's Harvesting Machinery.

This is one line that is without a peer, and one you need not pay toll to the Trust. It's Independent, and when you get ready to buy this class of implement—remember SHOOTS. Their Richmond Champion Drill is especially a good one. See it.

Having been in business less than a year, I am looking to the future in establishing this business, by not charging the "longest" price possible. I buy direct and take cash discounts—and guarantee to save you money considering the high class lines represented. Before buying, see me—or call by phone and a representative will promptly call at your home.

Also a complete line of new 1909 style high grade buggies, carriages; vehicles of all kinds.

Macken & Smith

East Center St. Next to Strayer's Drug Store

Can't you arrange to come to Marion Monday instead of Saturday—this week?

Certain delays have made it impossible to open the fine new Uhler-Phillips store upon Saturday—as the management had planned

They have promised though that they will be ready to open Monday morning.

Mr. Uhler—when seen today—expressed great regret that they could not be ready for the out-of-town ladies to visit the store Saturday.

He is particularly anxious that the ladies who reside outside of Marion—may be able to arrange to visit Marion upon Monday instead of Saturday.

He promises that the new store will be a marvel—for the quick and easy supplying of all customers with "what they want—when they want it." 1-wky
